Japan Signs Surrender Tonight

Strong Defences

Japan Invasion Would Have Been Hard Fight

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Sept. 1.—(BUP)—Examination of fortifications in the Yokosuka area indicated today that the Allied invasion of Japan reputedly scheduled for Nov. 1—would have been one of the bloodiest struggles in history.

Yokosuka nestles inside Tokyo Bay. To have landed here the Allied fleets would have had first to blast their way through the narrow Uraga Strait. Then the ships and landing parties would have faced massed guns as powerful as any fortifications that I saw either on Okinawa or Luzon.

I drove along the Yokosuka-Yokohama highway today and saw guns and dug-in positions which would have made the march to Tokyo an inch-by-inch struggle all the way.

GAUNTLET OF CAVES

The road between Yokosuka and Yokohama, which would have been the probable path to Tokyo for any Allied forces landing in the Sagami Bay area, runs a gauntlet of newly-constructed caves which are connected by tunnels.

Wherever the terrain permit-

Officials Say:

More Than 50% Alberta Bonds For Refunding

More than 50 per cent of the amount of bonds necesary to make Alberta's $113,200,000 debt refunding offer operative have been deposited for refunding, treasury department officials said Saturday.

"Close to 50 per cent of the total amount of bonds outstanding have been deposited," one official said. He emphasized the percentage referred to amount outstanding and not number of known bondholders.

Rough estimates reveal that approximately $42,000,000 would represent the value of bonds turned in for refunding.

STILL VALID

The refunding offer still is valid, even though the Sept. 1 suggested "cut-off" date has been reached.

Commenting on progress of the refunding program to date, Acting Premier Hon. W. A. Fallow said Saturday:

Considerable concern has been expressed over the fact that the time of acceptance for the provincial refunding offer has arrived. In order that everyone should understand exactly what this situation is, I quote two para-

Official States 1,064 Canucks Held in Japan

By Col. R. S. MALONE

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 1—(CP)—A Japanese foreign office official yesterday produced figures, which he claimed accurate up to July 30, showing 1,064 Canadian prisoners in the main islands of Japan.

Records of this official, detailed by the foreign office as liaison with the Allies in prisoner matters, differ from latest Canadian records but his picture is somewhat encouraging. He said his figures were official and gave this distribution:

Council May Take Over Atom Bomb

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 1—(BUP)—The United States is considering a proposal to place the atomic bomb in the hands of the world security council to enforce permanent peace, former secretary of state, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., revealed today.

Stettinius

Stettinius, now chief American delegate on the executive committee of the United Nations preparatory commission, admitted at a press conference that control of the atomic weapon might be transferred from the United States and Britain to the world police organization.

A decision on that question, he said, now is being studied by both the executive and legislative branches of the government in Washington.

(There was no immediate elaboration of Stettinius' remarks which appeared to contradict official British and American statements that the atomic bomb would remain an Anglo-American secret for the present at least.)

23,000 Yanks Die In Nippon Camps

ABOARD HOSPITAL SHIP BENEVOLENCE, Tokyo Bay, Sept. 1—(BUP)—An American doctor said today at least 23,000 of the [illegible] American troops in the Far East at the outbreak of war have died, most of them in Japanese prison camps from brutality, neglect and sadistic "medical experiments."

The physician, Dr. Mack Leonard Gottlieb of New York City, said he was unable to estimate how many additional thousands of soldiers, sailors and marines and airmen who arrived in the Pacific later also had died in enemy prison camps.

Dr. Gottlieb was captured by the Japanese in Guam in December, 1941, and spent the remainder of the Pacific war in prison camps.

Dr. Gottlieb said American airmen got "special treatment," first from civilians who beat them when they landed by parachute, and later from officials who tortured them for information.

Martin Bormann, Chief Hitler Aide, Is Held by Allies

LONDON, Sept. 1—(CP)—The Russian-controlled Berlin radio reported without amplification last night that Martin Bormann Adolf Hitler's chief deputy in the Nazi party who faces war crimes charges, "is in Allied hands."

The terse announcement did not say exactly where Bormann was or what official announced his arrest.

Bormann rose to the position of Hitler's right-hand man after Rudolph Hess made his historic flight to Britain in 1941.

Japan Elections Set For Jan. 20-31

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Tokyo radio said the Japanese Diet decided at a special meeting today to call a general election in Japan Jan. 20 to 31. The broadcast said the cabinet would call an extraordinary Diet session early in December to revise all election laws and that drastic changes would be made.

Great War Started 6 Years Ago Today

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Six years ago today, Sept. 1, 1939, Hitler sent his forces smashing into Poland to touch off the global war. At high noon of Sept. 3 Britain declared war on Germany and 5½ hours later France followed with a similar declaration.

Servicemen to be Released If Returning to Old Jobs

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Navy, army and air force personnel in Canada who wish to return to former employment or to university or similar educational institutions may gain release from the forces to do so under a joint policy announced last night by Defence Minister Abbott and Air Minister Gibson.

In a statement the ministers said the new accelerated release from the forces would be carried out "to the maximum extent which the continuing requirements of the three services permit." The new policy had been planned "with a special view to meeting the demand of industry, business and the professions for return of trained personnel."

Mr. Abbott, who was speaking for the navy as well as the army, and Col. Gibson, said it was a broadening of the plan to release "key" men which has been in existence for some time. Under the previously announced policy mem-

Mitchell Says:

Co-Operation Of All Needed To Win Peace

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Co-operation of all sections of the community will be necessary to meet problems of adjustment to peacetime conditions, Labor Minister Mitchell said today in a Labor Day message.

"Once again I would remind employers, leaders of business, controllers of our enterprises that they have a very definite responsibility at this time to plan for a high level of employment," Mr. Mitchell said. "They owe it to the community to provide a maximum in the way of jobs. They must make use of every last ounce of energy and initiative to produce results.

MUST ASSURE JOBS

"At this time we should not allow ourselves to be victims either of undue optimism or unwarranted pessimism. Lay-offs of workers in war industries which have of necessity terminated the manufacture of munitions and war supplies, should not be taken as evidence of widespread unemployment. But we cannot assume that employment will remain at a satisfactory level and we must see to it that steps are taken to produce that result".

Dislocations were inevitable at a time of reconversion but, with unemployment insurance and other measures, Canada was much better prepared to meet these conditions than ever before. The provision for veterans to earn a steady and adequate livelihood should remain paramount.

Howe's Report In Summary

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Here is the summarized report Reconstruction Minister Howe made last night of the present position of Canada's war industry:

Shipbuilding—Building and repairs will continue well into 1946.

Aircraft—Almost all orders cancelled.

Chemicals and explosives—Production almost entirely stopped.

Armoured vehicles—Discontinued.

Automotive vehicles—To stop shortly.

Railway equipment—Domestic and export production to be stepped up.

Instruments and signals—U.S. contracts cancelled. No change yet in British contracts.

Armament and naval equipment—Orders for U.S. being terminated. No cancellation yet of British orders.

Clothing and textiles—With few cancellations production continuing.

Land at Singapore Soon After Signing

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Tokyo radio said today that vanguards of Allied occupation forces will begin landing at Singapore soon after the formal signing of the surrender documents at Tokyo.

A broadcast Domei dispatch, recorded by the Associated Press, said Allied occupation troops would make a quick entry into the business section of the great port and also would move into the Kalan airfield section, the Changi section, the Seletar naval port section and the Johore company section.

Domei said Japanese residents were being instructed to complete their withdrawal from these sections of the city by Saturday night (Japanese time). Some employees of Japanese plants were ordered to remain until the formal delivery of the installations.

This dispatch carried the dateline "Shonan", Japanese name for Singapore.

Malaya "Tiger" Ready to Make Full Surrender

MANILA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Lt.-Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the "Tiger of Malaya", who dictated the British surrender at Singapore in 1942, and had vowed he would crush Gen. MacArthur's Philippines re-invasion, today wirelessed he will begin his own surrender journey tomorrow.

The swaggering Japanese general previously had said he would not meet American commanders until after Japan's surrender was signed in Tokyo Bay Sunday.

Today he said he would be in Kiangan, northern Luzon, tomorrow ready to proceed to Baguio, Philippines summer capital, to sign the surrender of all remaining Japanese forces in the Philippines.

World's Bloodiest Conflict Will Come to Official End

From CP, AP and British UP Dispatches

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED ARMY OF OCCUPATION, YOKOHAMA, Sept. 1.—With Japan's full and complete surrender, unconditionally and without reservations of any kind, the world's bloodiest war will come to an official end at 6 p.m., Canadian CDT, Saturday, which is 9 a.m., Sunday, Japanese time.

The surrender ceremony will take place aboard the U.S.S. Missouri, flagship of the Admiral commanding the Allied Pacific fleet, as the big warship lies at anchor in Tokyo Bay.

President Truman will broadcast from Washington following the surrender, and it is expected that General Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of the Allied occupation army, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Allied Pacific Fleet, will broadcast from the flagship.

ALLIES ON GUARD

Allied leaders are taking no chances that some fanatic, die-hard militarist or Kamikaze pilots who are known to have flown their planes into hiding may attempt some dramatic gesture against the surrender. Guns of all warships around the Japanese coast will be trained on the shore, over 2,000 planes carrying [illegible]00 bomb loads, and thousands of fighters and rocket planes will be in the air when the surrender is being signed, ready for instant action, and troops in occupied areas will be standing by under arms and ready to take the field again at a moment's notice.

The entire surrender ceremony, formalizing Japan's first defeat in modern history, will last only about half an hour, but censorship regulations will not permit broadcasting details of the cere-

To Broadcast Jap Surrender At 7:30 Tonight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—The White House announced today that the Japanese surrender ceremonies on the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay will be broadcast at 7:30 o'clock, MDT, tonight.

Gen. MacArthur, supreme Allied commander in Japan, notified the White House to this effect.

From Washington, President Truman will broadcast a speech of about eight or nine minutes during the ceremony, after which the broadcast will be switched back to the Missouri for brief addresses by Gen. MacArthur and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander.

Holiday Weather Is Forecast Here

Weather for the holiday week-end promised to be fine with the forecaster predicting it will be "bright and warmer Sunday." Estimated high temperature for tomorrow is 75, the highest for some time.

Maximum temperature Friday was 67 and the minimum, 44.

Overnight the low reading was 38 at the Edmonton weather station, but some low altitude districts of the city reported light frost, the first of this season.

The estimated overnight low is 45 and the temperature at 2 p.m. was 60.

9,000 of Japanese Indicate Desire To Leave Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday about 9,000 of the 23,000 Japanese in Canada have indicated a desire to return to Japan. It is understood the government will shortly establish a loyal commission to ascertain which Japanese should be allowed to remain in Canada. Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the government's intention to appoint such a commission some time ago.

Suicide Pilots Urge Japs To Continue War on Allies

By RICHARD CUSHING

TOKYO, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Japanese said today that for two days after Emperor Hirohito told his people the war was over, several planes—evidently flown by fanatical suicide pilots—dropped pamphlets on major Japanese cities asking the people to disregard the Emperor's word and fight on.

A Tokyo resident, describing their action, said that the great majority of the people were shocked by the mere thought of disobeying the Emperor. The move died quickly, he said, for lack of popular support.

He quoted the Kamikaze planes' pamphlet as saying: "Don't listen to the Emperor—he has been ill advised. The Emperor doesn't know the real conditions.

"We have enough food and planes left to continue this war. We shot down an American plane and the pilot told us food conditions in the United States were very bad.

"When the Americans land in Tokyo we are going to give them a real surprise."

The informant said Japanese normally follow the Emperor's word like sheep, and that the Kamikaze fliers responsible for the pamphlets undoubtedly would be put to death if caught.

Tax Collection Reaches New Peak

Breaking all previous records for tax collection, current and arrears, a total of $3,912,670.60 poured into the city treasury during the eight months ended Aug. 31. This compares with $3,656,389.56 collected in the eight months of 1944, an increase of $256,281.04, according to figures released Saturday by Thomas Walker, city assessor.

Collections for August totalled $411,804.64 compared with $432,811.60, a decrease of $21,006.96.

Sales of city-owned land for August showed an increase of $3,490 as purchases totalled $76,826 compared with $73,336 for the same month last year. The cumulative total for the eight months of 1945 was $796,238 compared with $579,653 for the same period last year, an increase of $216,585. The sales total for the 1945 period establish an all-time record.

Rentals collected by the city during the eight months of 1945 amounted to $91,926 compared with $110,911 for the same period of 1944. collections during August totalled $10,455 compared with $15,791 for August, 1945.

Clue Is Uncovered In Girl's Murder

VICTORIA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Discovery of a "very important clue in the basement of 2658 Roseberry avenue, home of murdered 18-year-old Phyllis Stroud, was announced last night by Detective Inspector J. H. Rogers. The discovery was made during an examination by Inspector Rogers, Inspector J. F. C. B. Vance, Vancouver police department analyst, and Detective Louie Cellon and Angus Munro.

No further information was given by Inspector Rogers but suggestion in some quarters is that the furnace may have revealed ashes believed by Inspector Vance to be from some of the clothing worn by the girl on the night of her disappearance, Aug. 15. Search for these clothes has been unsuccessful.

The girl's body was found buried in a pile of sawdust in the basement on Aug. 27 by police after she was reported missing Aug. 16. Yesterday a coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder by a person or persons unknown.

When found the body was scantily clad and police have made an intensive search for her clothes.

Crimes of "Monster of Mauthausen" Appalled Even Fellow Nazi Leaders

By ROBERT MUSEL

The man dying in the slime, it was revealed today, was SS General Franz Ziereis, whose crimes appalled even his fellow-Nazi leaders. He fell into American hands last May.

Before he died, he called for an interrogator and, while doctors kept him alive with hypodermic injections, he gasped out a story of mass murder and atrocity that will be used at the forthcoming war criminal trials in Nuernberg.

Rambling somewhat because death already was clouding his mind, the Nazi torturer mumbled bitterly that his wages of murder were barely enough to support his wife and three children in comfort.

Ninety dollars a week was the price for which 1,500,000 persons died in the 30 hell camps Ziereis headed for slightly more than four years. It averaged out at a dollar for every 75 men, women

Should Pay U.K. For "Holding Line"

LONDON, Sept. 1—(CP)—The Financial News suggested today that under the logic of President Truman's lend-lease report the United States not only should wipe out the lend-lease bill, but also should repay Britain the cash spent with the United States to fight the war before lend-lease began.

Mr. Truman's message tacitly recognizes that the war began not in 1941 with lend-lease or Pearl Harbor, but in 1939," the editorial said.

The Financial Times, with similar reasoning, said in an editorial that "if instead of reciprocal cancellations lease-lend operations are to leave us heavily in debt, there should logically be a set-off for the vital service performed in keeping the Nazis at bay in Europe while America prepared."

Jimmie Stewart Back in States

Fleet Is Clearing Hong Kong Waters

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 1—(BUP)—A powerful British battle fleet began clearing the mine-littered water off Hong Kong today in preparation for the formal re-occupation of the crown colony.

Dispatches from the fleet said Rear Admiral C. H. J. Harcourt had ordered the Japanese commander to send a delegation out to his flagship at once to arrange for the surrander.

(There was no immediate word on when the formal British landing at Hong Kong would be made, but it presumably would take place immediately after the signing of the general Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay Sunday).

Soon after dawn Friday, British carrier planes dropped leaflets on Hong Kong's Kai-Tak airdrome, giving detailed instructions for the dispatch of the Japanese surrender envoys.

"You will be held personally responsible for the safety of all Allied [illegible] men who land at Hong Kong, as well as for the safety of all [illegible] personnel at present there," [illegible] informed the Japanese [illegible].

Top German Terrorist Deserted Hitler, Sought Peace for Austria

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Sept. 1—(BUP)—Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Germany's leading terrorist, deserted Adolf Hitler a month before Berlin fell and attempted to arrange a separate peace with the Allies for Austria, it was revealed today.

Allied investigators discovered that Kaltenbrunner, one of 24 Nazi war criminals awaiting trial at Neurnberg, fled to Austria last April and tried to contact the Allies through the Swiss Red Cross.

His plan was to declare the Anschluss (union with Germany) at an end and set up an independent Austria which would make peace with the Allies. When his project failed, he hid in a mountain chalet under an assumed name. He later was betrayed by his mistress.

HAD GREAT POWER

Although little known outside Germany, Kaltenbrunner was one of the most powerful and feared men in the Reich. As chief of the Reich security department, he signed every concentration camp committal order and every execution warrant.

The Gestapo was one of six branches of his security department. He also directed the internal intelligence network with agents in every hamlet in Germany seeking out those who criticized or opposed the Nazi party; the criminal police organization, which supplemented the Gestapo on political missions, and the world-wide German foreign intelligence service.

The mechanical equipment of Kaltenbrunner's security department included gas vans for mass executions. His men performed the so-called mercy killings of hundreds of political undesirables.

His organization also furnished the staffs and guards for concentration camps.

Kaltenbrunner's predecessor as head of the security department was Reinhardt (The Hangman) Heydrich, who was assassinated by Czechoslovak patriots.

450,000 Japs Is Death Toll Of Air Attacks

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Sept. 1—(AP)—Japan next week will hear from its premier the staggering news that its bomb death toll was 450,000, nearly double the official figures thus far announced.

The revelation will be made in a frank discussion of the war before a session of the Diet beginning Sept. 4, which Premier Prince Higashikuno promised in an interview with the Japanese press yesterday.

His speech will be the first before the Diet under the newly-announced program of loosening official bonds on public discussion.

"EXPLAINS" DEFEAT

The address is prompted, he told the press, by the necessity of explaining "the collapse of Japan's fighting spirit" which he said caused her defeat.

Authoritative sources said 95,000 persons died in Hiroshima, which had a previous population of 250,000.

New deaths are occurring daily as a result of the atomic bombs and 10,000,000 homes were destroyed during aerial raids, the sources said.

Tokyo, once a proud city of 7,500,000, now totals 2,500,000—the result of emigration to the country plus the deaths. A German priest who lived in the capital throughout the war and visited every section, said 80 per cent of the city was destroyed.

Japan to Sign Full Surrender Terms Tonight

mony until half an hour after its completion (about 7:30 p.m., Edmonton time, Saturday).

Last minute efforts to have the surrender delayed were scotched by General MacArthur, who refused to grant a Japanese plea for further discussions of the terms. He also stated that the terms would not be changed, and that they must be signed at the time and place specified.

SEEK TO "SAVE FACE"

It is not thought that the Japanese wished anything further than to make a futile effort to "save face" with their countrymen by delaying action and showing that they, and not the Allies, chose the time for the signing of the surrender document.

The actual ceremony will be brief. The tentative program includes short speeches by General Douglas MacArthur, as Supreme Commander of the Allied Occupation Forces, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Allied Pacific Fleet. Admiral Nimitz will also sign the surrender as representative of President Truman.

A Japanese foreign office spokesman told newsmen that Premier Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni, cousin of Hirohito and uncle of the empress, would be the principal signer for Japan.

Emperor Hirohito himself probably will announce the signing of the surrender terms to the Japanese people in a proclamation.

Drenching rain was threatening to put a damper on the surrender ceremony, but navy crews were making the 53,000-ton Missouri, flagship of Admiral Halsey of Third Fleet fame, spic and span for the historic occasion.

Admiral Halsey and Admiral Nimitz conferred with General MacArthur at his Yokohama headquarters today on details of the surrender and progress of the occupation. Generals Spaatz and Kenney also attended.

It was the first meeting of the "Big Three" of the American Pacific Command since the occupation began Thursday.

ARMY GOES ASHORE

Even as they met, the main strength of Lt.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's Eighth Army was going ashore on the southern approaches of Tokyo from hundreds of landing craft.

The veteran troops took over Yokohama from a handful of airborne troops and reinforced other American units at Yokosuka and Tateyama, the latter at the southeast entrance to Tokyo Bay.

Radio Tokyo said American troops also expanded their foothold on the east shore of the bay to nearly 30 miles with an airborne landing at Kisarazu, 15 miles across the bay from Yokohama.

The text of the surrender document has not been revealed, but it was presumed to follow closely the terms outlined in the Potsdam and Cairo declarations.

TERMS OF SURRENDER

These stripped Japan down to her four main home islands, provided for their occupation indefinitely, and specified that the Emperor and Japanese government obey all orders of General MacArthur as supreme Allied commander.

Lt.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, who succeeded General MacArthur as commander of Corregidor and Bataan in 1942, arrived at Yokohama with members of his staff last night to witness the surrender. They were liberated from a Japanese prison camp by American paratroops and Red Army forces more than a week ago.

Already on hand were the representatives of Britain, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, France, The Netherlands and Russia. Col. Cosgrove Moore, Canadian military attache to the High Commissioner in Australia, will represent Canada.

OTHERS GIVING UP

Elsewhere throughout the Pacific, the Japanese were surrendering or arranging to surrender vast forces peaceably. The only untoward incident reported was the attempted escape of three Japanese suicide boats from Hong Kong, where British aircraft promptly sank one, beached another and forced the third back to port.

Surrender of Hong Kong—where Canadians and Britons surrendered Dec. 25, 1941—was to be organized today at conferences between British Rear Admiral C. H. J. Harcourt and the Japanese commander.

In the Philippines, the one time "Tiger of Malaya," Lt.Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita agreed to go to Baguio tomorrow and sign surrender articles Monday for the remains of his Philippines army.

MOUNTBATTEN ORDER

At Singapore, which Gen. Yamashita conquered in 1942, the Japanese commander acknowledged Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's orders to have the government house "ready for occupancy by Sept. 5."

The surrender of 86,000 Japanese in the Solomons, New Guinea and New Britain was to be received by Australian Lt.-Gen. V. A. H. Sturdee aboard the aircraft carrier HMS Glory at Rabaul.

The 20,500-man garrison of the Bonin Islands was under pledge to surrender Monday after a conference between the Japanese and Americans aboard the destroyer Dunlap yesterday.

LAST TO SURRENDER

The East Indies, last of Japan's major conquests, apparently would be the last to be relinquished. Dutch officials spoke of a matter of weeks before the reoccupation of those rich islands would be settled finally.

American troops were scheduled to land on Formosa tomorrow, shortly after the Tokyo surrender signatures, and the island fortress of Truk was to surrender similarly.

Today's Eighth Army landings in Tokyo Bay are progressing without incident. These troops, veterans of the battle of the Philippines, will bear the main brunt of the occupation of the Tokyo area. Supplies and full combat equipment also were being landed.

Tokyo itself was off limits for American troops for the present, and it was likely that a considerable time would elapse before they would be ordered into the enemy capital.

The Americans were roaming the countryside and other large cities at will. Residents of Yokohama and Yokosuka who had remained indoors most of the first two days began appearing in large numbers today.

For the most part, the Japanese stared curiously at the troops, or bowed and smiled nervously as they passed.

BETWEEN NOW AND THIS SAME TIME TOMORROW, IT IS ESTIMATED THAT ABOUT 100 BILLION METEORITES WILL STRIKE THE EARTH'S ATMOSPHERE.

fringe of the problem. With winter approaching and servicemen with their wives and families returning in large numbers, this temporary move will scarcely take care of new arrivals, leaving unsolved the desperate plight of those who are here now with little or no prospect of securing housing accommodation.

The statement that the "director general of real estate will compel owners of vacant houses to either sell or rent"—is a straw in the wind There are very few habitable vacant houses. The only permanent solution to this problem is a national housing scheme, providing low rental housing and financed by the Dominion government.

Eighteen months ago the provincial government realized that a very acute situation was developing, and made Legislative provision for a scheme whereby the municipalities would be able to undertake a housing program on a fifty-fifty basis with the provincial government.

SCHEME REJECTED

This scheme was designed to apply mainly to the larger municipalities, but the scheme was rejected on the assurance by the Dominion government that the National Housing Act would be in operation and would take care of any emergency. Every one must realize that the National Housing Act is a complete flop insofar as meeting this national emergency is concerned.

OFFERS LOAN

Later the provincial government offered to loan $1,000,000 to the cities of Edmonton and Calgary in order to provide four hundred temporary homes for returning servicemen. These homes were to be constructed out of temporary huts made available by the War Assets Corporation for this purpose.

The City of Edmonton accepted our proposition and is now actively engaged in the construction of these four hundred homes. The City of Calgary declined to participate in the scheme.

The government of Alberta has done everything in its power to avert what many people realize was approaching a national scandal. In spite of every overture, the situation is rapidly becoming more desperate. Until the Dominion government recognize this as a national responsibility and takes national action to provide the national housing necessary, I see very little hope for any immediate improvement.

Driver Is Charged With Manslaughter

ABBOTSFORD, B.C., Sept. —(CP)—A charge of manslaughter was laid yesterday against W. E. Terry of Vancouver in connection with the death of Aircraftman Hymie Rivkin, RCAF, of Winnipeg, who died Monday following injuries received when struck by an automobile Aug. 24. Rivkin was struck while he and his wife were walking along the highway near Abbotsford. Preliminary hearing of the charge was adjourned until Sept. 4. Abbotsford is 45 miles east of Vancouver.

graphs dealing with this matter and taken from the Debt Reorganization Program."

"Holders of outstanding securities may accept the provisions of the Debt Reorganization Program at any time up to the 1st day of September, 1945, but thereafter only up until such time as this offer is withdrawn. The province reserves the right to withdraw this offer at any time after said 1st day of September, 1945, by order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, a copy of which will be published in the Alberta Gazette. From and after the date fixed in the order, the right to accept this offer shall terminate.

ACCEPT PROVISIONS

"Holders of outstanding securities are invited to accept the provisions of the Debt Reorganization Program and to deposit their securities without delay and not later than the 1st day of September, 1945. It is hoped that the debt reorganization program will be declared operative on or before that date. If for any reason the program shall not be declared operative on or before the 1st day of December, 1945, this offer shall be deemed to be withdrawn the program will be abandoned, and the deposited securities will be returned to the depositors."

"With reference to an article appearing in the Calgary Albertan dated Sept. 1, 1945, under headline 'Bondholders failing to deposit securities, only about forty per cent carry out refunding conditions.' I can only say that this statement is untrue.

"In spite of the many mechanical difficulties involved in a problem of such magnitude, a much greater percentage has already been received and there is every indication that the scheme will prove successful.

U.S. Is Expecting Lend-Lease Pay-Off

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—Nations which received lend-lease aid had it straight from State Secretary Byrnes today that the United States has by no means torn up their IOU's.

They will not be asked to pay in dollars because they do not have the dollar credits. But they are on notice that they will be expected to make some kind of settlement.

It seemed probable they would be requested to pay off in the form of lowered trade restrictions—particularly Britain, whose economic officials will arrive next week to discuss possible substitutions for lend-lease.

Mr. Byrnes made it clear in a formal statement issued yesterday that President Truman's report to congress saying the $42,000,000,000 of lend-lease might as well be written off did not mean there would be no settlements of a kind not involving cash.

Official States 1,064 Canucks Held in Japan

The official said this difference was due largely to recent moves.

(After the Dec. 25, 1941, fall of Hong Kong, where Canada's contingent numbered about 1,985 men, the Japanese reported they took 1,689 prisoners.)

The official had no records of Canadian prisoners outside Japan but had the numbers of Canadian civilian internees in assembly centres in China.

BROKEN DOWN

This was broken down as follows: Shanghai, as of last May 3: Kosei No. 2, 10 male, 10 female; Koto, eastern area, four female; Chapei, seven male, seven female; Lunghawa, 10 male, 13 female; Pooting, 11 male, six female.

In Yangchow, as of last Feb. 28, there were seven male and nine female while in Weichien as of the same date there were eight male and 14 female.

No totals were available for the number of Canadian civilian internees in Japan proper but the official, named Fujisaki, said all now were released.

The chief difficulty these first 36 hours in Japan in obtaining prisoners-of-war information is the extreme shortage of local transportation and the ban on movement outside the Allied perimeter until after formal surrender.

Adding to the problem of locating Allied prisoners is the fact Allied figures of various nationals in the respective camps are estimates pieced together from various sources during the last year. Also, many prisoners were moved to different camps in recent months.

The only prisoner-of-war camp in the restricted Allied zone is the Kawasaki one, from which prisoners were moved by the Allies Thursday en route to Manila. No Canadians were in the camp but there were some Australians, Americans and Britons. Some Britons had come from Hong Kong but had seen no Canadians there in several months. These prisoners looked in fair health.

Japan Invasion Would Result In Hard Battle

ted, the tunnel entrances were no more than 50 feet apart. In addition to the caves, I saw countless revetments for machine guns and mortars.

The caves begin right inside Yokosuka city limits, immediately outside the naval yard. Many were built of debris and rubble, while others were bored deeply into convenient embankments and cliffs lining the highway.

The caves were obviously built to serve both as air raid shelters and ambush points. They were almost exact duplications of caves which I have seen on Okinawa, Luzon, and other Pacific fronts.

The highway at many points split into left and right hand traffic lanes which passed through separate tunnels. In such cases, one tunnel usually was blocked off to traffic. We discovered the unused tunnel almost always contained a concealed ammunition dump.

Riding northward to Yokohama I noticed that the populace reacted differently. Higher-ranking Japanese army and navy officers were austere. Junior officers and enlisted men smiled and many saluted. While most of the women appeared grimly bitter, almost to the point of obvious hatred.

BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY

The countryside all along the route was extremely beautiful but the towns, cheaply and awkwardly built in the first place, were marred by the ugly odds and ends of military and commercial installations.

Two things puzzled us most when we saw these runty little people and their third-rate military equipment:

1. What flight of the imagination could make them think they could ever cope with a war-aroused United States?

2. How did they manage to fight so fiercely and tenaciously until the emperor finally called them off?

They can be broken down into two classes now, the unreconstructed militarists whose hatred is visible, and the common people who are relieved beyond description.

Abrupt About-Face Evident

'So Sorry Please' Is Attitude Of Recent Bullying Japanese

By JAMES McGLINCY
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

TOKYO, Sept. 1.—(BUP)—The Japanese only a few months — even weeks — ago were beating and jabbing Allied captives with bayonets.

Today they bowed politely, as if to say:

"So sorry, please."

The Tokyo newspapers also have done an abrupt about face.

"Japan's reconstruction can be possible only in a spirit of friendly co-operation with other countries of the world," the English-language Nippon Times said. "Only through such amity can Japan expect good relations in return and eventually, aid and co-operation."

BUILDINGS ARE SHELLS

From the hill above looking down on Tokyo, much of the city still appeared intact. Block after block of modern concrete or brick office and apartment buildings stretched below.

From the distance, all appeared intact. But when we drove down past them, most were little more than burned-out shells—destroyed by American bombs.

Only in downtown Tokyo did we find a few buildings still standing. The Domei News Agency was housed in a modern six or seven-storey structure. A similar building held Radio Tokyo, which was guarded by Japanese sentries.

Windows in the former National City Bank office building were shattered, but it otherwise appeared all right.

GUARDS AT PALACE

We drove toward Emperor Hirohito's palace with its wide moat 20-foot high stone wall. Members of the Palace Guard walked the parapets atop the wall. Behind them we could see some of the handsome palace buildings.

A lone Japanese was in the park where loyal subjects make their obeisence to their emperor. His head was bowed low in the direction of the palace.

Despite the size of the city, Tokyo's streets were not crowded. At least half the inhabitants wore a uniform of some kind. A few men wore only loin cloths. Some rode bicycles. Others walked or crowded trolley cars.

END WAS EXPECTED

From various conversations I had with Japanese, I gathered that the intelligensia had expected the war to end for some time.

The consensus was that advisers close to the throne decided after Okinawa that they could not go on. The atomic bombing raids and Russia's declaration of war were the final straws.

The great mass of the Japanese people, however, had no idea that the end of the war was at hand. They had been told that their air force and navy were intact and were being saved to ward off invasion.

Troops to Get Discharge For Work, School

bers of the three services in Canada could gain release to pursue educational studies. Now they are also eligible for discharge to go back to pre-war employment.

JOINT STATEMENT

In their joint statement the ministers defined the three classes eligible for discharge as follows:

1. Personnel in Canada who produce satisfactory evidence that they are entitled to be reinstated in their former employment in accordance with terms of the reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, and who in fact intend to return to such former employment.

2. Personnel in Canada who provide satisfactory evidence that they will undertake or resume farming operations where there is need of their services. This includes personnel now on farm leave without pay.

3. Personnel in Canada who intend to proceed with university or similar educational studies, provided satisfactory evidence is produced that they have been accepted for training at a university or other similar institution.

GET NO PRIORITY

The statement emphasized that while fulfilment of these requirements may entitle personnel to more speedy release, it does not constitute grounds for priority over long service men and women in repatriation.

Earlier in the day it was announced that naval and air personnel in Canada who planned continuing educational studies were eligible for discharge. A similar policy had been previously announced for the army.

Air Minister Gibson, who made the earlier announcement and spoke also for Defence Minister Abbott, said it had not been found practical to extend the provision to overseas personnel, but those who returned in the normal repatriation stream would have their discharge accelerated if they were to attend university or college.

New Housing Order Aimed To Secure Homes for Vets

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—Extension of the emergency housing regulations from the former seven designated areas of Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Hull, Winnipeg, Vancouver, and Victoria to all of Canada is designed only to acquire every square foot of building available for housing returned men.

The new system will be administered by emergency housing officers and not by local rental boards.

It replaces the former permit system, now abolished, for the very good reason that that system had broken down.

FIRST OBJECTIVE

First objective will be to co-operate with municipalities in (1) acquiring vacant buildings that may be used for temporary housing, and (2) to see that no vacant houses are held off the market to obtain higher rents.

Municipalities will do the administering.

For example, the emergency shelter housing officer in Winnipeg is now negotiating for two large vacant buildings in that city to be used temporarily for housing returned men and their families. One is a Canadian National Railway building which has been offered to the city.

The reason the old permit system broke down was due to the huge influx of returned soldiers. Before the war ended and the soldiers began coming back, the permit system whereby people could not move from one city to another, or move from one house or apartment to another in the designated areas, worked fairly well. But the situation changed with the return of the soldiers. It was useless to issue permits when no houses or apartments were available. People were walking around with these permits and could find no place to go.

SYSTEM BROKE DOWN

In short the system had broken down. The emphasis is now placed on digging up every available foot of housing space whether vacant houses, empty buildings, shut down war factories vacant government buildings and what not.

For this purpose the jurisdiction of the former seven regional offices will be expanded to take in all their surrounding areas. A separate officer, where found needed, will be named for each area, to investigate possibilities of obtaining vacant buildings or houses for temporarily housing returned men and their families.

Also only if found necessary, other emergency housing areas will be created outside the seven designated zones but only for the purpose of obtaining vacant buildings and houses.

RESTRICTIONS OFF

All restrictions are off now on householders desiring to move from one city to another, or from one house or apartment to another. These permits are abolished for the very good reason that the tight housing situation has spread all over the country. Anyone who moves now does so at his own risk. The emergency housing officers will help them where they can but first attention has to be given to housing returned men.

The rental boards will continue their functions as usual but have nothing to do with the emergency housing department's effort to find vacant housing space.

and children he killed or ordered killed.

Ziereis' talent for killing was so marked that Adolf Hitler told him he would be wasted at the front, where slaying is apt to be haphazard. So, in 1940, he was appointed commandant of the Mauthausen camp, "the last stop this side of hell" for the enemies of Nazism.

NAZI "REFINEMENTS"

There were 30 camps in the Mauthausen chain, and nationals of 23 different countries were among the victims murdered there by shooting, beatings, poison gas, drowning, starvation, poison, stoning, burning and scores of refinements thought up by Ziereis and his talented assistants.

Ziereis realized he was one of the war's major criminals and he tried to escape after Germany surrendered. On May 24, a patrol flushed him from his hideout near Gusen, Austria, and took him into custody.

The Nazi told his captors he wanted to get some personal belongings from his house, and tried to make a break. His dying confession listed the names of so many fugitives who still are at large that it can be quoted only fragmentarily.

HIMMLER'S ORDERS

"Regarding the killing of people, I merely carried out orders from Himmler," he gasped. "How many people were murdered in the gas chambers at Mauthausen? I have forgotten.

"Reinhard Heydrich (the hangman who was killed in Prague) sent me 320 Poles to shoot. That was in November, 1940. I took part in shooting the Poles myself because in my opinion the Volksdeutsch (Germans from foreign countries) were bad shots.

"I used a small calibre rifle and had a room arranged in which a loud speaker played music. In an adjoining room I had a gun mount erected behind a screen. As the inmates entered the room, the bullet hit them in the neck.

"After a while I shut off the radio music and turned on one of the turbines of the gas chambers. It also drowned out the noise of the shooting. . . .

"Berlin told me that if the war went badly to take all the prisoners into the woods and have them 'pick buds and flowers'."

Ziereis revealed that each batch of prisoners arriving at his camps usually contained anywhere from 600 to 800 persons who had died en route—not counting those who were tossed from speeding trains.

"I complained to Berlin, but they said I was to cease such amateurish criticism," he said.

"Eight days before the German surrender, a transport of 44,800 prisoners from Dachau arrived at Mauthausen. Only 180 were alive. The rest were sort of starved to death along the way, or managed to flee.

"About three weeks before the armistice, Himmler said dangerous prisoners in the camps were to be led into a hollow and killed," Ziereis said. "According to the same orders, prisoners working in the crematories at Auschwitz and Mauthausen were killed so they could not testify against us."

Ziereis fainted at that point and had to be given further injections. He revived and continued with his confession.

Nipponese Torture Farm

Hideous Treatment by Japanese Is Described by Ex-Prisoners

By VERN HAUGLAND

OFUNA PRISON CAMP, Near Yokohama, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Accounts of hideous treatment by Japanese captors and guards—one prisoner beaten to death; seven dead of malnutrition; a flier covered with his parachute and shot; men forced to sit for 14 hours with metal bits in their mouths—were given me yesterday at this unregistered torture farm.

They came from the lips of 103 brutally-treated Allied men—95 American, eight English—interviewed after a Swiss representative uncovered the camp Sunday. Most of them were fliers.

The camp commander, Lt.-Gen. Kakuzot Kaku Oadada was reported "in Tokyo on business" when we called.

BEATINGS COMMON

Beatings were commonplace. The Japanese compelled the men to go out in the winter in the snow, clad only in shorts, and squat in awkward positions with arms over their heads.

At least eight died. One was a flying associate of Film Actor Wayne Morris, a carrier pilot.

One man said:

"My captors tied my hands behind me, made me lie down and covered me with my parachute. Twenty minutes later, I heard two shots. I didn't feel the first one in the left upper arm because my left shoulder already was full of shrapnel and was hurting too much. The second bullet went through the right side of my chest.

"I tried to die and made peace with my God.

"Twenty minutes later, they made me sit up. A Jap rolled my collar down and tested his sword on the back of my neck. He made a practice swing.

HIT WITH BAYONET

"A first aid man arrived, a Formosan, who thought I didn't move fast enough so he struck me in the back with a bayonet.

"At a hospital close to an airfield, shrapnel and bullets were removed without an anaesthetic but they did give me glucose and blood plasma.

"The next day American fliers strafing an airfield put 31 holes in the hospital room, including four in the bed I had been using and killed two Japs. The Japs told me if it happened again, they'd kill me."

The Japanese gave the "bit treatment" to fight survivors of a 12-man crew on a plane shot down while on reconnaissance south of Tokyo, Aug. 11—while Japan was moving to surrender.

GIVES DESCRIPTION

Describing it, the pilot said:

"They bound our feet, tied hands behind our backs and tied metal bits into our mouths to keep us from talking. Every half-hour, they came in to test and, if anyone complained, made the thing tighter. After two weeks, my left hand still was numb.

"They kept the bits in our mouths 14 hours. They were as thick as a man's finger."

All eight men have facial sores from the bits.

Disappointments

The public is likely to be disappointed in the tax reductions scheduled to appear in the forthcoming national budget, states the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of finance.

Disappointed is hardly the word.

The people of this country, for nearly six dismal years, accepted unusual sacrifices and restrictions with good heart and even with enthusiasm.

They resigned themselves to being frozen in their jobs and frozen in their incomes. They cheerfully obeyed controls. They subscribed with generosity to frequent Victory Loans. They sent their best young men and women into the services. They accepted grief and loss with equanimity. And with their incomes fixed, like birds being shot in a trap, they shouldered the burden of unprecedented income taxes which even bit into the miserable pittances of those who earned as little as $660 a year.

Apparently appreciating this situation and solicitous of the Canadian people who had gone through such a long and gruelling ordeal, Mr. Ilsley declared in the recent election campaign that, since the European war was over, he would reward this popular fidelity with tax reductions in his first post-election budget.

Well, the budget is soon to come up. And conditions are even more favorable than when Mr. Ilsley made his promise because the Japanese war has since unexpectedly ended.

How does Mr. Ilsley fulfil this promise? He says that the public is likely to be disappointed.

It may be Mr. Ilsley himself who is disappointed if the members of the house of commons realize their obligations to the people of Canada.

V

A National Emergency

The government's belated recognition of the Canadian housing shortage as a national emergency is a step in the right direction. The appointment of housing administrators and the formulation of rules for their guidance may take up the slack in available accommodation to some [illegible] degree.

But it is difficult to see how the fren- search for vacant houses and apart- [illegible]ts in a city like Edmonton, already [illegible]mmed to capacity, is going to bring the slightest relief. It is doubtful if the relief will be appreciable in any part of Canada.

Nevertheless the situation has been recognized, officially, as a national emergency.

And what does that mean? It means that all the resources of Canada and all the best constructive brains of Canada are pledged to its solution. A national emergency can mean nothing else than that the problem takes priority over every other problem and that no method is too drastic to secure relief.

To recognize the housing situation as a national emergency is to admit that it has been a national emergency for the past several years. Can Ottawa honestly say that its departments have given housing priority over all other problems or that the best brains have been used or that the most drastic methods have been explored?

What has Ottawa, infuenced by the reactionary Mr. Ilsley, done?

It has set forth a plan to produce, under the National Housing Act, some 50,000 houses by next spring and 100,000 houses per year thereafter until the shortage is alleviated. These houses cost $6,000 apiece. They cannot be rented or sold at a rate lower than from $35 to $45 a month. It requires an annual "net income" of not less than $2,150 to handle them.

But 80 per cent of the people of Canada do not get that kind of money. Four-fifths of the Canadian population receives an income that will not permit them to spend more than $18 to $25 a month on accommodation and maintain their economic integrity.

That means that somebody has got to build thousands of houses at a loss and expect no return on the investment. Only the people of Canada themselves, utilizing the national credit through the interest-free funds of the Bank of Canada, can absorb that loss. There is no other way.

If the housing situation is a national emergency, it is time it was treated as one. No such emergency will respond to treatment that affects the needs of only 20 per [illegible]ent of the people.

V

Recreation Week

Edmonton's long-awaited Recreation [illegible]k begins September 2nd and continues [illegible] midnight September 9th.

[illegible]zens who believe in the value of [illegible] and profitable leisure hours will [illegible]ted, not only to the Edmonton [illegible] Committee, which has organiz[illegible] [illegible]eek so efficiently, but to the [illegible]amber of Commerce which has [illegible] a valuable booklet to explain it. [illegible]ooklet gives the history of the [illegible]n Commission; it describes the [illegible]hich are taking part in the [illegible]bration; it tells of the many [illegible]hletic and social and communi[illegible] [illegible]ons which have something to offer to Edmonton people in the way of planned recreation.

It is, indeed, a valuable catalogue of the many currents which contribute to the streams of the broader life in this community. The number of these will astonish even citizens of long residence here.

In a recreational way, the newcomer must usually grope his way along. He stumbles upon these agencies and organizations which enrich his community life. He frequently comes upon them by accident.

One function of Recreation Week is to place all these agencies and organizations and clubs and societies right out in the show window.

There is no reason why every Edmonton person should not absorb himself immediately and without difficulty in the unusually rich reactional life of the city.

What Will They Wear?

Canada's post-war army will presumably number some 50,000 men. It has become a problem to decide, it is said, what they are going to wear.

The present suggestion is that they should retain the battle-dress. For purposes of economy, it may be necessary to keep them in this garb for some months. But if the battle-dress is going to be Canada's permanent peacetime uniform, there will be violent protests from every section of the country.

The battle-dress, most admit, was an efficient and suitable covering for combat duty. But for a peacetime army, it is probably the most sloppy and unsoldierly costume that could be devised. Certainly it would stack up very poorly alongside the uniforms of Americans and the members of the other Canadian services.

Surely some uniform can be eventually devised that will be both smart and efficient, practical and soldierly.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1895: 50 Years Ago

Monday's train brought Hon. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, KCMG, Premier of Canada, accompanied by Hon. T. Mayne Daly, minister of interior, who are on their way to Battleford and Prince Albert by trail. Mrs. Daly accompanied the party to Edmonton. On Tuesday the party paid a visit to Stony Plain reserve and the mission at St. Albert. On their return in the evening a public meeting was held at which addresses were presented by the Town Council and the Board of Trade, and replied to by the Premier and Mr. Daly. On Wednesday morning the Premier and Mr. Daly, accompanied by Messrs. Hayter Reid and J. L. Payne of Ottawa, Joseph Nelson of London, Eng., and J. Carlton, secretary to the Premier, started by trail for Prince Albert. The party intend calling at all the Indian agencies, and at the same time get some idea of the country along the valley of the North Saskatchewan.

Monday afternoon was the occasion of the laying of the first cornerstone in Northern Alberta with Masonic honors, when the cornerstone of the new All Saints' church was laid by Past Master C. W. Sutter.

1905: 40 Years Ago

Despite threatening weather the previous day the weather for inauguration day proved better than the promise, and a glorious "Sunny Alberta" day left nothing to be desired in that regard. The elaborate program was carried through with enthusiasm and the celebration was in every way the success it was planned to be. It is estimated that 12,000 people witnessed the swearing-in ceremony at the Fair grounds at noon. The concert on Thursday evening was the best ever given in Edmonton.

His Excellency Earl Grey and party, including Premier Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier, arrived in the city by special train during the forenoon of inauguration day.

Promptly at 12, M. J. J. McGee, clerk of the Privy Council, announced the appointment of George Hedley Vickers Bulyea to be Lieutenant-Governor of the province, and conducted the swearing-in ceremony. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. William Patterson gave brief addresses.

The ceremonies concluded with a grand ball, held in the Thistle rink.

Lieutenant-Governor Bulyea has announced that Hon. A. C. Rutherford of Strathcona has been called upon to form the first executive council of the new province.

Rome.—Several transports have landed Italian troops on the coast of Asia Minor, to start operations against the Turks.

New York.—Twenty million dollars in gold and $25,000,000 worth of securities arrived here from London to strengthen British credit.

Charles Camsell, of the geological survey department, has returned from Fond du Lac, where he examined the reported silver deposits. He says that reported finds there have no foundation in fact. Ore was found containing small quantities of nickel.

Athens.—Greece is likely to declare war against Turkey at once. Mistreatment of Greek residents of Asia Minor is the assigned reason.

Three thousand people attended the picnic of the East Edmonton Liberal Club in Borden Park on Saturday.

The new Separate school on Tenth street was opened yesterday.

Winnipeg.—Dr. Magill, chairman of the Dominion Grain Commission, ridiculed the suggestion which emanated from Calgary that the government buy up the whole western wheat crop.

London.—Financiers here agree that Germany cannot fight longer than six months. To continue the war for a year would require hundreds of thousands of tons of copper, which Germany cannot get.

London.—British authorities have agreed to allow Christmas toys from Germany consigned to the United States to pass the blockade.

Washington.—The United States will establish a financial protectorate over Haiti.

London.—Lord Balfour announced that Zeppelin raids in England have not resulted in the death or wounding of any soldier or sailor, and on only one occasion in damage which could by any stretch of the imagination be described as of any military importance. Civilians have been the victims, exclusively, of the bombardments from the air.

Rome.—Mussolini calls up 200,000 more men for army, bringing total Italian [illegible] under arms to over 1,000,000.

Strong Arm Diplomacy?

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The United States, the only solvent country in the world, and the only member of a great coalition that has not been devastated; the country that has an atomic bomb in its pocket—can act in alternative ways. Recognizing the absolute superiority of its position, it can behave gently, as well as reasonably. Or it can try to force submissions.

Dorothy Thompson

It is one thing to invite a neighbor to negotiations, and it is another to set terms in advance of negotiations, or bring pressure on another country's press, in the moment when the head of its state is our guest engaged in vital negotiations for his country.

Lend Lease had to be terminated, and no legal strictures can be brought against its abrupt termination. But the Anglo-Saxon concept of law is of justice tempered with mercy. Mr. Crowley is overstretching his point if he argues that American was forced to interpret the law as he did.

After the last war similar questions arose, and we took six to eight months to make financial adjustments with our allies, in the transition from war to peace.

The mission that is coming to America with Lord Halifax and Lord Keynes would have come in any case. One would have thought, that in dealing with the best friends we have in the world, we would have done nothing to cause a crisis in their country. That Britain feels it a crisis is clear after the statement of Mr. Attlee and Mr. Churchill, now leader of the opposition, who joined together, in the face of what was a snub—if nothing else. Both knew that Lend Lease would be terminated, but expected that some modus vivendi would be mutually found to bridge the gap in a serious moment.

And it is all but certain that a bridge would be found.

But if a noose is put around your neck and then loosened you don't forget the startling moment when the noose unexpectedly appeared. Nor do we know whether the abrupt termination of Lend Lease was merely inadroit politics, or whether there was more in it than meets the eye. The British will be asking themselves questions, even if they don't debate them in the House of Commons. Many issues are pending and unsettled—for instance the status of Hong Kong. Also there is the American attitude toward the Labor government. There is a trend in certain circles to embarrass it. It is in a certain diplomatic tradition to take a high-handed attitude on one question in order to win concessions in another. But it is no way to win friends and influence people.

And however strong we are, let us never make the mistake of believing that we shall not need new friends in this world.

The abrupt cancellation of Lend Lease hits France, too. France, in economic and colonial questions, is more dependent on us than Britain. General de Gaulle faces a stern domestic situation. It is in his interest and ours that he should be able to alleviate internal difficulties before the French elections. But how is he received? By an unprecedented rebuke to the French press, not only directly, but to General de Gaulle himself.

This is a matter of more far-reaching implications than Lend Lease. The French press, like our own, is free; it is not an instrument of the state. In suggesting to he head of the French state that he should do something about the French press, President Truman is taking a line hitherto only used by totalitarian states. The German embassies, in the neutral states, such as Sweden and Switzerland, constantly brought pressure on their governments to restrain the anti-German tone of articles. The Russians, who find it extremely difficult to understand a free press, tend to hold governments responsible for what appears in newspapers.

I make no apologies for the French press. I have criticized it myself and in France, to French journalists. But that is the job of journalists and not the job of our President. For does the President want General de Gaulle to call in the press and bring governmental pressure upon them? Suppose he does, and succeeds. The next day another state—for instance, the Soviet Union—might send a representative to General de Gaulle, and even to President Truman, and ask the same favors for his state. certainly General De Gaulle could ask President Truman to discipline the press of the United States. So where would this all end? In the suppression of the free press? Or in the argument that we are so strong that we don't have to practise reciprocity?

No irreparable damage has been done, but we should halt high-handedness. Bretton Woods and the San Francisco Charter are only abstract documents. What counts in relation between countries are relations. Let us remember that the strongest country can mobilize the world against it and then it is no longer strong at all, even with the atomic bomb—which, incidentally, we got through agreement with Britain—and which will not remain a monopoly.

Follow Rules In Jelly Making

Work With Small Portions of Fruit, Little Water and Avoid Overcooking

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

Jams, jellies, preserves, conservers—these are the glamor children of the kitchen and the canning season. Your family will enjoy the home canned fruits and vegetables as they are brought from the storage cupboard but it will be the sweet concoctions that will rate appreciation notices.

Now, how many of these delicious but sugar-rich products can the housewife put away at the end of this canning season? At the present sugar ration it will not be many.

Butters are the most economical in sugar and also use more of the fruit than any other type. In preserves and conserves you can use substitute sweetenings — half the sugar may be replaced by corn syrup or honey. But perfect jelly is so much a matter of accurate proportions that it is advisable to use only sugar.

Jelly making is one of the culinary arts where following proportions exactly makes up for the cook's lack of experience. Even the June brides can reel off perfect jellies with attention to detail.

Always work with small amounts of fruit. Select a mixture of slightly under-ripe and ripe fruits. Do not peel or core the fruit—just wash well and remove bad spots.

Add just enough water to prevent scorching and cook, covered, until the fruit is tender. Overcooked fruit may cause the jelly to be cloudy.

Extract the juice, using a jelly bag. Do not squeeze the bag if the jelly is to be very clear. However, it is far more economical to squeeze out the juice and then restrain.

If there is any doubt about the jellying quality of the fruit, test for pectin content. Pectin is found in abundance in under-ripe fruit, and it disappears as the fruit ripens. However, you can be sure of sufficient pectin in apples and plums at this season so that it won't be necessary to test their juices.

To one tablespoon cooked fruit juice, add one teaspoon alcohol. Stir together slowly. Juices rich in pectin will form a large, fairly firm mass of jelly. If several softer and less distinct pieces of jelly form, the juice has a low pectin content and will need the aid of a commercial pectin or a pectin-rich fruit juice to jell.

Never work with more than six cups of juice at one time. Be sure to use a large kettle to permit a rolling boil.

Bring the measured juice to a boil and add sugar gradually. Usually one cup of sugar to each cup of fruit juice is the correct proportion.

For apple and crabapple jellies, three cups of sugar to four of juice will be enough.

Bring juice and sugar mixture to a rolling boil and boil together until the jellying point is reached. When two drops run together and drop off the edge of a spoon in a sheet, the jelly is done. Turn off the heat and let the jelly stand until the boiling stops. Remove the scum.

Pour hot jelly into sterilized hot glasses and pour on a thin layer of melted paraffin. Make this very thin at first. After the jelly has set, pour on more paraffin, rolling the glass so that the paraffin will seal the edges of the jelly.

Jelly doesn't always turn out perfectly, but there is a pretty good chance that you will be successful if you check your directions and follow them carefully.

There have been several inquiries about the use of saccharin for canning. Saccharin offers no easy way out of canning sugar problems.

While saccharin is extensively used in special diets for diabetic and obese patients, it is not recommended for otherwise normal persons. Being a coal tar product there is a possible toxic effect, and overuse may cause intestinal upsets.

Under federal drug laws commercial canners are not allowed to use saccharin, except for certain dietary foods. Such foods seldom have the flavor associated with sugar-canned products.

Instead of using saccharin I recommend the canning of fruit in juice or water. This makes it possible to sweeten to taste and for the desired purpose when jars are opened for use.

Since sweetening is not necessary to make fruit keep, and the use of saccharin presents doubtful and possible wasteful results, the use of this substitute sweetening is definitely discouraged.

The New Theory of Jobs

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Recent developments in Vancouver and Victoria vividly reveal the human problem involved in the conversion of Canadian industry to peace. In the two coast cities many shipyard and airplane workers are being laid off as a result of the cancellation of war contracts. Now many of them are demanding that the government of Canada shall supply them with jobs. They go further and demand that the government shall supply them with jobs on the warm and agreeable coast of British Columbia.

At a mass meeting in Vancouver, Mr. Harvey Murphy, organizer for the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, apparently expressed the general aspiration of the war workers when he said:

"Don't allow yourselves to be chased out of town if you want to live in Vancouver."

Here, then, is a new and remarkable theory of Canadian society. The government is not merely asked to assure jobs for all. It is asked to assure them where the worker wants them and under the conditions he wants. This, of course, is impossible under any system of society.

In the totalitarian countries the government has supplied every worker with a job—but not necessarily where he wanted to work. In all these state-controlled countries the worker has worked where the government has decided, as part of its over-all state plan, and he has worked at the wages set by the government, under its conditions. He has never been able to demand a job in a certain place, at a certain wage.

Once the worker insists that the government must guarantee him a job then he must inevitably accept the job the government offers, at government-fixed wages and in a place satisfactory to the government. And once the government undertakes to manage our whole economy it will have to move workers here and there, willy-nilly, throughout the country to make good its general plan, to produce the things it wants produced. Then not only those temporarily unemployed but all workers must be prepared to move whenever the government chooses and wherever it chooses. Against such orders there can be no successful protest, since if the government allows any part of its general plan to be sabotaged by unwilling workers it will find its whole plan jeopardized, its whole system undermined.

On the very day when the war workers of Vancouver were holding a mass meeting to protest against the loss of their shipyard jobs, the labor department at Ottawa was announcing that there were 130,700 jobs vacant in Canada at the end of the Japanese war. Moreover the number of vacant jobs was increasing rapidly. At the same time, for 130,700 jobs only 48,000 applications had been made. There were more than three times as many jobs open as there were willing workers to accept them.

As Mr. Howe said recently, there should be no immediate unemployment problem in Canada. No, there should be none but, in fact, there is at such places as Vancouver for the obvious reason that discharged war workers will not take the jobs open to them. Close to Vancouver in the woods, farms and mines of British Columbia thousands of jobs are open. Loggers are desperate for workers. Mines cannot get the men they need. Farmers are struggling along short-handed. And in Vancouver a large pocket of unemployment is threatening to develop. It will certainly continue to develop if the workers insist that they must have jobs immediately in Vancouver and at wartime wages.

We do not believe that the working people of Canada generally are stupid enough to believe that they can have jobs wherever they choose and at the wages they choose at all times. They will certainly and quite properly seek the jobs they prefer in the places they like and doubtless many people who have moved to the Pacific Coast during the war will stay there permanently as industry develops and the great natural resources of British Columbia are exploited. But in the end, whatever form of government we maintain in Canada, however far the state reaches into the control of our lives, people will have to go where jobs are, where work is to be done, where materials are to be extracted from the earth and manufactured.

In the end also they will have to accept the wages — whether they are disguised by higher prices or not — which our economy by its nature, by the cost of making goods, can produce and no more.

There is no way around this and never has been in any country at any time under any social system. The income and the living standard of the worker—already higher in Canada than in any country but the United States—will rise only as production rises and the cost of production decreases through improved efficiency. And the production of Canada will surely rise only as we develop our natural wealth where nature has put it with the lowest possible cost.

Own Responsibility

Editor Bulletin: I still believe that the Germans can feed themselves without help from us. "Where there's a will there's a way".

Of course, they can't gorge, as so many of them have been used to doing. It'll do them good to limit their food consumption.

James W. Gerard tells us that the Bavarians drink from 20 to 30 glasses of beer a day.

It takes a lot of barley and hops to make the beer that Germany produces.

Are we going to let the Germans bluff us into feeding them or are we going to make them understand, once for all, that it is their responsibility?

Seeks Pen Pal

Editor, Bulletin: I am in search of a pen friend, who may be interested in my country and who is prepared to swap information of common interest concerning our respective countries. There is definitely nothing military in our proposed friendship, as I am a loyal New Zealander, and nothing will be discussed which will be in any way detrimental to our respective countries.

You see, it is like this: I am a young accountant, twenty-nine years of age, married, and live at the above address, and as there is little hope, as far as I can see at present, of me ever seeing your country, I would like to know something about it, its people, their ways, their thoughts, or various interests which may be common to us both.

The type of person I wish to contact is the average man in the street who, probably like myself, sees life each day at the office, has his sporting life and is prepared to write about the everyday things of life, which are very ordinary to him but are of great interest to me. I do not mind whether I contact a man or woman nor do I mind what station of life they follow, only I want a regular correspondent, and one who moves about a fair bit and visits various places of interest.

Thanking you for hearing me patiently, and looking forward to seeing the good results of my inquiry.

Local Mayoralty Race

Editor Bulletin: It is truly a healthy condition to read in our Edmonton papers that great interest is being taken in regard to our civic election in November next. For years past the high office of mayor of the capital city has gone begging. This year I am glad to see through The Bulletin that a number of men are offering themselves. This is a more healthy sign. Now the citizens have a duty to perform: that of investigating and, if possible, discovering the best man for the job. Never perhaps, was the need of true leadership greater and our duty will be to plan to elect men with experience in civic matters. A mayor, in my opinion, should have prior experience on the council. We are fortunate in having already such, stating they will be in the running. Then we have to consider backing up the mayor with a strong council. After all, much depends on the action of council members. They should be men or women willing to sacrifice their own personal interest, for that of the city at large.

Our duty as citizens is to find out all we can about whoever may be in the running for aldermen, what interest they have taken in public matters, have they rendered true service to the city, province or the Dominion? This is important. Don't wait for a slate with a number of names asking you to support the whole bunch. Make your own selection from the candidates you have investigated, then we hope we will get men and women who will get to work and put our utilities and taxes on a more reasonable basis, and see that every dollar of money spent gives value.

By making careful and proper moves, with proper expenditure of funds on hand, Edmonton can be made the most attractive city of the west, both from a business and residential point of view. Is it not worth while taking all the interest we can to make our city prosperous, healthy, and beautiful in every sense of the word?

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

THIS city is about to embark on a musical season which for abundance of activity and artistic quality appears destined to equal the best that have gone before. With the cessation of hostilities in Europe and peace reigning over the far-flung reaches of the Pacific, greater attention is being given to the cultural and spiritual things of life. Music flourished during the war to a greater extent than ever before. In the beginning there was going to be no time for music. It was going to be a short conflict and there would be none of the light-hearted though dauntless spirit that pervaded soldiers of 1914-1918 when the troops and the world sang Tipperary, Keep the Home Fires Burning, If You Were the Only Girl in the World, and many other immortal songs. So business-like was the army that at the start even infantry regiments had no provision for bands to help out on long marches.

JOHN OLIVER

But early it became apparent that if Great Britain and Allied Nations were to win—and win they must—that it would be a long war. Soon infantry and other units got their bands. The world found that Tipperary and Keep the Home Fires Burning provided a wonderful tonic and stimulant to morale and they were sung with enthusiasm as unrestrained as ever. And for good measure they were supplemented with the Beer Barrel Polka, There'll Always be an England and others.

In England despite the blitz and drain of musicians for the armed forces, concerts were patronized to a greater extent than ever before. The same held good in Canada and the United States. Symphony orchestras and opera companies showed surpluses when they had reported deficits with monotonous regularity for many years. Phonograph companies reported unprecedented sales. Pianos could not be had. Great orchestras, concert parties of distinguished artists toured army camps. Special radio networks were established to carry music to troops in faraway lands.

In short, music boomed as never before. Now the munition factories are silent. Airplane factories are turning out automobiles. Soldiers are being demobilized as fast as enabling machinery permits. As rapidly as possible the Allied Nations are turning from the enforced business of war to the furtherance of humanity's cause in peace. Music is resuming its peacetime role, but with the added prestige, popularity and listening public stemming from the six long, cruel years of battle, desecration and destruction.

CONDUCTOR.—Leonard Betts, conductor of the Cavendish Choir, who has called the first rehearsal of the new season at the lecture room of the Public Library at 8 p.m., Sept. 11.

TALENTED ARTIST.—Therese Turgeon, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Turgeon, 11222 99 avenue, who is one of this city's most promising pianists and vocalists. She passed her Grade 9 piano examination with first class honors last June and the late Viggo Kihl, the examiner said that her playing was "musical, fluent and in good style; a very talented girl." In her singing test she won warm praise from Frank E. Blatchford who commented favorably on her poise, voice control, excellent intonation, general proficiency and splendid sense of rhythmic balance.

And in the general preparations for expanding the appreciation of music, this city is keeping its place in the forefront. Already extensive plans have been drafted for the coming season and blue-printing them is far from complete. But sufficient is known at present to indicate a varied, comprehensive and meritorious list of events which will commence this month and continue until well into the summer of 1946.

* * *

The great leaders in any field always possess outstanding attraction. The top men in music, military matters, sport, politics, literature, art or any other calling possess the greatest appeal to the public. Thus it is that the Women's Musical Club Celebrity Concerts, which for a decade have been the spearhead of matters musical here abouts, form the centre of interest in the season, on the threshold of which we now stand.

* * *

As was the case last year, there will be six concerts in the regular series, with one added attraction for an aggregate of seven. As it happens, the "extra" or added concert is the first and will take place at the Empire theatre on Oct. 18 with Serge Jaroff and his hard-riding Don Cossacks, one of the finest male choirs in the world, supplying the entertainment.

The success of the Celebrity Series already is assured, as when the seat sale opened last June all accommodation was disposed of in short order. There will be a few rush chairs for each concert, but they will go to those who arrive first at the box office. But with the "extra" by the Don Cossacks, it is different. Seats will be open to the public, and regular subscribers will take their chances with others on the "first come, first served basis." Mrs. Ernest Meaden, manager of the concerts, said that she expects to open her office at Heintzman and Company's store on Sept. 15 for business in respect to the series as a whole, and that tickets for the Don Cossacks would go on sale on Monday, Oct. 1.

The six attractions in the regular series, with dates, released for the first time are: Oct. 23, the Trapp Family of singers and instrumentalists; Saturday, Nov. 17, Vivian della Chiesa, "America's great lyric soprano"; Nov. 28, Ricardo Odnoposoff, violinist; Feb. 4, Paul Robeson, bass; March 1, Jennie Tourel, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association; March 15, William Kapell, pianist.

Here is a glittering array of stars of the first constellation. All are making their first appearance here with the exception of Mr. Odnoposoff, who made his debut last year and who, therefore is attaining the distinction of being the only artist engaged in the Celebrity Series two years in a row. Just to refresh the memory here are the artists who, with Mr. Odnoposoff, made up last season's agenda: Martial Singher, baritone; Jean Watson, contralto; Alexander Uninsky, pianist; Richard Crooks, tenor; Bidu Sayao, soprano, and Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemenoff, duo pianists. Arthur LeBlanc, Canadian violinist, appeared with Mr. Crooks as the extra concert. Mr. Odnoposoff substituted for Nathan Milstein, who became ill.

Of this year's concerts one and one only will be on a Saturday night, namely that by Vivian della Chiesa. As was the case last year, the Empire theatre will be the locale and with capacity houses assured another successful season may be anticipated. The program of regular meetings of the Women's Musical Club, which will start only in October is being drafted and is expected to be completed in the near future.

* * *

As an indication of the increased activity resulting from the return of peace, several other artists will appear here during the season. The Provincial Chapter of the IODE will sponsor the appearance at the Empire theatre on Sept. 28 of Portia White, Negro contralto who was born in Halifax and who has been winning laurels in the United States. She sang here a few seasons back at First Baptist Church under the auspices of the Women's Association.

The Women's Association of First Baptist Church, which has brought many fine artists here in past years, is bringing back Kenneth Spencer, Negro bass for concerts on Nov. 8 and 9. He has been here previously and created an excellent impression. Since then he has carved for himself a firm place in the esteem of New York concert and radio audiences.

* * *

Another favorite who is booked to return is Josef Hofmann, noted pianist who is being sponsored by the Junior Hospital League at the Empire theatre in January. He played here previously under the banner of the Women's Musical Club. One of the greatest pianists of this age, he has electrified audiences since he first appeared in public when he was six years old.

* * *

With the demobilization of men and women from the armed services, it is expected that choirs and choruses will rebuild. Church choirs, the Edmonton Male Chorus, the chorus of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society, St. David's Male Voice Choir and other organizations which were hard-pressed during the war for material will find more voices available and can start the long, hard, but satisfying task of scaling former heights.

Of outstanding interest will be the arrival of John Reymes-King to take over his post as professor of music at the University of Alberta and his extra mural duties as organist and choirmaster of Robertson United church, in succession to G. A. Kevan, who was appointed to a similar post at the Church of St. John the Divine, Houston, Texas. Mr. Reymes-King, the first incumbent of the chair of music at the university, comes here with a splendid reputation established at the Toronto Conservatory of Music and at Metropolitan United Church, where he succeeded the late Dr. H. A. Fricker as organist.

At the university and at the church he will have great scope for his talents. In addition to music taking a more prominent part in university studies, one may look forward to a development of the choral and orchestral groups. It is expected that under his guidance the Robertson choir will take on a new lease of life.

* * *

Many other organizations, the Cavendish Choir, the Lyric Ladies' Music Club, and various groups and study clubs will be active and will play their splendid parts in the cultural expansion of the city. Also, there will be events not now scheduled which will add to the interest and value of the season.

Russian Soldier Held in Killings

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A man booked as a Russian soldier was arrested yesterday and turned over to American military police in connection with the slaying of a German police executive and a German lawyer Thursday and the alleged rape of the lawyer's wife. Dr. Hans Vos, police chief of the [illegible] borough in the United States occupation zone, and an attorney named Voight were shot in their two-family dwelling.

Churches Resume Normal Services As Vacation Period Brought to End

PREACHES SUNDAY.—The Rev. Canon W. M. Nainby, B.A., L.Th., Rector of Holy Trinity Church, who will preach at the Sunday morning and evening services.

Regular services will be resumed in all city churches after two months' of vacation schedules during which many churches held joint services and suspended evening worship.

With the return of families from lake resorts and other holiday places, ministers expect to see full congregations in attendance as the fall season gets under way.

Ministers during the summer months co-operated in supplying pulpits in churches other than their own to enable the clergy to take vacations. All of the ministers have now returned to the city and are ready to resume their duties.

CHOIRS RE-ASSEMBLE

Church choirs, which have also been on vacation, are prepared to resume their choral work at the services and with the return of so many servicemen to the city choirmasters are hopeful of swelling the ranks of their singers to the pre-war standard. Many of the groups have already started practicing for special musical presentations.

Many churches took advantage of the vacation months to renovate and redecorate their buildings, and bright, shining interiors will welcome back many congregations.

With the return to the regular schedule of services in the churches Sunday schools will re-open for the season and youngsters will return to their religious studies a week before they commence regular day school.

CHURCH GROUPS

Activities of all organizations affiliated with the churches will commence next week also. Such groups as the Girl Guides, Brownies, Tuxis, Boys' Scouts, Cubs, CGIT and other youth groups will start their winter programs.

Many ministers will also resume their Fireside Hours on Sunday following the evening service. All other special features which are a regular part of the city's religious activities will be resumed.

Bible Society To Give Europe Needed Supplies

The British and Foreign Bible Society, London, reports there is a famine of Scriptures in Europe and all our depots are depleted. It has been illegal to print Bibles in some countries. The liberated countries in their first appeal for food included an appeal for literature in their own language and added, "Have you by any chance any Bibles in our language?" There is now a tremendous demand for Bibles.

The Bible Society [illegible] has decided it ought to spend at least a [illegible] dollars in the first two or three years, now that hostilities have ceased. "Where is the money coming from?" How is it going to be raised?

STUDIED QUESTIONS

Two years ago the Bible Society committee [illegible] took this question [illegible]. It inaugurated a reconstruction fund, knowing the heavy demands that would be made upon the society as soon as war ceased. The reconstruction fund is for restoring and extension of work in China, India and Africa, and in other mission lands. Now that hostilities have ceased, [illegible] needs in the liberated countries assume proportions far greater than estimated earlier. The committee is [illegible] with the supply of the Scriptures. It must have immediate [illegible].

The demands for Scriptures are so great they will tax to the utmost the combined resources of all the Bible societies. Therefore our Society has arranged to work together with the American Bible Society, with the National Bible Society of Scotland, and with The Netherlands Bible Society in meeting these needs.

Last year we, with the American Bible Society, placed an order in [illegible] for [illegible] Bibles and 250,000 Testaments for supply in Europe. These books have already been sent to France, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, [illegible] and Latvia, and the cost was [illegible].

Pope in Attack On Former Regime

A new attack on Italy's former Fascist regime was voiced by Pope Pius XII when he received 600 newly-trained policemen in an audience at the Vatican.

The pontiff warned the officers of the "absolute necessity" for neutrality in fulfilling their duties, and for "always remaining above political passions and thereby assuring full security and protection against violence and injustice."

He pointed out that during the last 20 years in Italy the police had served as instruments of only a small minority and had used illegal means to oppress the rest of the population.

"It was believed here that the pope's words were directed at calming Italians who still regard the police as enemies and oppressors whatever they may do.

The pontiff's address was considered timely in view of the fact that Italy is now preparing for a political election.

In receiving the policemen, the pope repeated much of what he had said to eleven U.S. congressmen earlier in the day, emphasizing that the fabric of civilization has been worn by war and badly needs repair.

St. Alban's Dean Explains Refusal

Dean [illegible] Thicknesse, of St. Alban's Abbey in Hertfordshire, who declined to hold a civic service of thanksgiving for peace in St. Alban's Cathedral on V-J Day because of his objection to use of the atomic bomb, answered a barrage of questions at a public meeting in London.

Replying to a suggestion that the atomic bomb would be used to maintain peace, he declared, "The same thing was said 100 years ago about the discovery of dynamite."

Asked if the bomb did not shorten the war, Dean Thicknesse answered: "That was the argument Hitler used when he bombed Rotterdam, that Mussolini used when he gassed Abyssinians. It has brought about cessation of hostilities, but I tremble to think how unreal a peace and how short it is likely to be."

It is [illegible] that the dean will give up his post.

Atomic Bombs Provoke Debate By Churchmen

The question of whether the atomic bomb ought to be used or not "Leads only to interminable debate about the comparative inhumanity of various forms of warfare," Dr. J. H. Oldham declared in the Christian News Letter.

"There is no right answer to a question arising from a totally wrong situation," the noted churchman stated.

He added that "The blotting out of great cities, in which were scores of thousands of persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand, remains forever on our conscience."

GREAT RESPONSIBILITY

"We must face the fact," he said, "that it is America and Great Britain that have introduced into the world the appalling destructiveness of the atomic bomb. That responsibility is theirs to the end of time."

Dr. Oldham cautioned, however, that "It is not for us to judge those on whom rested the awful decision whether to use the weapon or allow the war to drag on at the cost of even a greater toll of lives."

"We can be thankful," he said, "that the discovery was not made by those who would have used it without remorse. The president of the United States and the prime minister of Great Britain have made plain their intentions that this new source of energy should be brought under effective control and used for the promotion and not the destruction of human welfare."

Dr. Oldham warned that totalitarian states are "The inevitable result of the slow decay in the western world of belief in any values other than those man himself creates."

DOGMA CREATED

"That life in its essence is a struggle for power has become a dogma believed and accepted in the widest circles," he asserted. "Ruthlessness is justified and glorified as a manifestation of the inexorable law of life. Existence of ultimate and immutable truth and justice which transcends human desires and impose obligations on all men at all times is openly denied.

"In Nazism and Communism," he added, "the process reaches its logical conclusion; the end is held to justify any and every means and the end tends to be identified with the purpose of those who possess power. It is this false understanding of life that is the real enemy."

It Costs To Be Honest

She was a little woman and must have been approaching her three score and ten. I saw her talking to a clerk in a Christian book store. While I looked at a new book, I could not help but overhear the conversation.

The day before she had purchased a devotional booklet for 10 cents and wanted to buy another for a friend. The clerk told her the price was 25 cents. There was some question about the price so it was verified by another clerk. When she started to pay, the little lady insisted on paying the extra dime on the book that she bought the day before. The clerk said it would not be necessary, but the little lady insisted that it was the honest thing to do.

"It always pays to be honest," observed a man standing near-by.

"No, it costs to be honest! It just cost me a dime," the little lady replied. "God is honest—and I try to be like Him."

The little lady turned and walked out. The whole store seemed to light up a bit because she had been there.—Baptist Messenger.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.—The Rev. H. O. T. Burkwall of the British and Foreign Bible who announced Saturday that the Northern Alberta Auxiliary Appeal for the funds to purchase Bibles for liberated countries in Europe and the Far East opened today and will continue throughout the month of September.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

Conscience

MORALISTS teach that man cannot commit sin except by full consent of the will. Thus it can happen that an individual will do something intrinsically evil and yet be guiltless of sin because he did not will to do wrong. However, even though no moral censure is involved, an obligation remains in such cases to form a right conscience for the future.

"Let your conscience be your guide" is a common saying. That is sound advice only when the conscience is informed, when it knows precisely what is right and what is wrong, according to the laws of God and the teachings of religion. There are gangsters who will try to prove murder is no evil, adulterers who will contend that "love knows no laws."

Much evil is done by men who set their own moral standards. Possibly many were called "good" Nazis. But that was just as stupid as it would be to speak of a "good" murderer or a "good" adulterer. Once a Good Thief hung on a cross beside Christ, but he became good only after he had repented of his crimes and was pardoned. True goodness exists only where there is a true conscience.

It is the function of religion to educate consciences. The process begins when a child is taught to control wayward desires and to respect the rights and possessions of others. Religion never permits expediency or selfishness to fix standards of moral conduct, for this would deny the sovereignty of God and threaten mankind with utter chaos and ruin.

Romance of Our Hymns

Fanny Crosby, the great blind hymnologist, whote hymns as birds sing. Her verses seemed to float from her pen. She wrote for the leading composers of the day. Ira D. Sankey — who, in later years, also became blind—had a great regard for Fanny Crosby, and she for him. Kathleen Blanchard tells of Fanny Crosby's famous hymn, Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross.

By KATHLEEN BLANCHARD

Hymns sung in our youth are seldom forgotten. They wind invisible threads about us and are the language of the heart. Many of Fanny Crosby's hymns cling to the memory.

Fanny Crosby was thankful for the great gift of heavenly love which endowed her life in such a powerful way in the Master's service. She lost her eyesight when only six weeks old.

Educated in New York City Institute for the Blind, she married in 1855 a blind musician, Alexander Van Alstyne, who became a teacher in that institution.

The story goes that one New York firm requisitioned her to write three hymns a week for a year—a contract which she performed to the letter in addition supplying another firm with literally hundreds of hymns.

Fanny Crosby had such a fluency of expression that poems seemed to be on her lips at all times.

She wrote too, for such gifted composers as Dr. Dave, Philip Phillips, Robert Lowery, and last but not least, Ira D. Sankey. She had a singular regard for Sankey who appeared to her to be God's messenger of song. She had known him in the early years of his mission. Bradbury, too, and indeed all the musicians of sacred song of that day, set Fanny Crosby's beautiful words to some haunting melody that lingered in the hearers' ears.

For his part Sankey had a great regard for the blind poetess, and he left it on record that there were few who brought him more joy and peace in his heart than Fanny Crosby. For in later life Sankey, too, became blind, and often did he recall to mind the wonderful character and faith of his old friend.

It is not generally known that Fanny Crosby when a young woman wrote many popular songs of the day which brought her in considerable money. But when about 45, Fanny tells how she had a change of heart and determined to write sacred songs only, of which the following is one.

Dr. Doane made these lines famous by setting them in a charming and simple melody—that at once captured the public fancy.

Jesus, keep me near the Cross
There a precious fountain
Free to all, a healing stream,
Flows from Calvary's mountain.

In the Cross, in the Cross
Be my glory ever;
Till my raptured soul shall find
Rest beyond the river.

Near the Cross a trembling soul
Love and mercy found me;
There the Bright and Morning Star
Sheds its beams around me.

Near the Cross O Lamb of God!
Bring its scenes before me;
Help me walk from day to day,
With its shadows o'er me.

Near the Cross I'll watch and wait,
Hoping, trusting ever,
Till I reach the golden strand
Just beyond the river.

Missionary Speaks At City Convention

One of Canada's outstanding preachers, the Rev. Dr. Oswald Smith, will be guest speaker at Beulah Tabernacle Sunday morning at a missionary convention.

He is founder and pastor of the People's Church in Toronto, one of the largest churches of that city. He has written many books which have been a great inspiration to many people.

His world-wide missionary vision has enabled him to support many missionaries in the homeland and also in foreign fields. Beulah Tabernacle holds an annual home missionary convention. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Swedish Primate Calls For Eenance

The coming of peace should invoke a spirit of penance and a determination to work wholeheartedly for justice and goodwill, Archbishop Erling Eidem, primate of the Swedish Lutheran Church, urged in a message hailing the end of the war.

"It is a relief," the archbishop said, "that the Second World War has ended after six horrible years that signified a catastrophe greater than any in history. It is horrible to think of the huge losses of lives, the enormous devastation. It is horrible to consider to what abysses human brutality has sunk.

"What will come hereafter is a question for the future. The warring powers have laid down their arms, but peace is still not here. Enormous tasks await those who have the responsibility of deciding the new world order. Will this terrible war be succeeded by another?

"For Christians it is evident that the only way to salvation for humanity is in justice and goodwill. War is a symptom revealing humanity's inner condition. We are all responsible for the future. We must invoke penance and a wholehearted eagerness to work for justice, truth and goodness."

Youth Movement Is Under Fire By U.S. Group

The Youth for Christ movement was denounced as "A scheme sponsored by reactionary business and political interests" in a resolution adopted unanimously at the Midwest Unitarian Youth conference at Lake Geneva, Wis.

Janet Olson, of Rockford, vice-president of the conference, said she had been authorized to state that "Members of the Midwest Unitarian Youth Council will gladly debate this matter with Youth for Christ leaders, anytime, anywhere."

The resolution urged "Religious young people in all denominations to use caution before supporting Youth for Christ programs."

REACTIONARY PLAN

"We suggest," it stated, "that religious youth look behind the superstition and emotion behind Youth for Christ and its emphasis against science, education and governmental control for a scheme sponsored by reactionary business and political interests to prevent youth from helping correct some of the social, political, and economic ills of our society."

The Rev. Robert Cook, associate director of the Youth for Christ movement, issued a statement in reply declaring that hundreds of pastors and churches support the movement.

Cook denied all charges of the Unitarian group and said a study of the Youth for Christ sermons would show that they are not against science, education and governmental control.

"Youth of Christ has no political or economic axe to grind and never has had nor will have," Cook said. "Our movement emphatically recommends faith in God as being perfectly compatible with true science and true education."

"HOME AGAIN".—The Rev. R. M. Thompson, minister of Metropolitan United Church who will resume regular services in Metropolitan on Sunday. Special "Home Again" services will be held in the morning and evening.

Oppose New Bishop As Anglo-Catholic

The Rt. Rev. John William Charles Wand was confirmed as Anglican Bishop of London, despite opposition from the National Union of Protestants, which charged that he is an extreme Anglo-Catholic. In two formal protests, the union, which was founded three years ago, alleged that Dr. Wand was not "a fit and proper person" for the position, and that his religion was not the religion of the Church of England "as by law establish." The confirmation ceremony was interrupted by shouts from a number of onlookers.

Malnutrition Said Rampant French Camps

European church leaders are greatly concerned over reports of malnutrition among German war prisoners and internees in France.

A high official of one international agency, describing the camp conditions as "absolutely terrifying," said starvation is already contributing to the deaths of some of the ill and the very young. Medical facilities, he said, are totally inadequate.

Another official, who has just visited the camps, declared some prisoners look like inmates of the Buchenwald concentration camp in Germany. It is estimated that 100,000 civilian internees, including pregnant women and small children, are affected, and that 90 per cent of them will die before spring unless aid is received.

One source pointed out that daily rations amount to less than 1,000 calories, compared to the minimum need of 2,000 calories.

IMPROVEMENT HINDERED

Church officials emphasize that the French government is not to blame, and would like to improve conditions, but the bad food and transportation situation in France, combined with the ravages of the black market and anti-German antipathies, hinder improvement.

Another factor is the collapse of the German Red Cross, which in February promised a thousand tons of packages monthly. None arrived, however, as its supply centre at Dresden was destroyed by bombing and other supplies were appropriated by the Allies.

Sweden, Denmark, and Switzerland have been asked to help. The Swiss attitude is that they have no surplus food and the Danes reportedly refuse to contribute anything for the Germans.

MAY SEEK AID

The Red Cross is expected to seek aid from Portugal and Spain, whose shipments are controlled by London and Washington. An eventual appeal may be made directly to the American government, but a stumbling block everywhere is hatred for the Germans and priorities for Allied prisoners.

Shipments of religious material and other literature continues to the camps but the feeling is growing that the time is hardly ripe for evangelistic efforts.

U.S. Churchmen Receive Honor From Gt. Britain

Four high-ranking members of the Protestant Episcopal church have been made honorary vice-presidents of the Church Missionary Society of the Church of England.

They are Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, Bishop Henry W. Hobson of Southern Ohio, Dr. James Thayer Addison, vice-president of the National Council, and Dr. John Wilson Wood, for many years executive of the overseas department.

It marks the first time that American churchmen have been so honored, appointments in the past being confined to bishops of the church in the British Isles, and a few in the Dominion and in missionary areas.

Ask Full Control Divinity Training

Full control over all its divinity training was voted by the Presbyterian Church in Canada when the 71st General Assembly in Toronto rejected a plan by McGill University for a theological faculty which would draw its students from the three theological colleges in Montreal. The vote was 53-51.

The question of allowing students to take part of their theological training in a secular university was warmly debated by the Assembly. The proposal had been submitted to the presbyteries throughout Canada, all but one rejecting it. Some changes were then made in the plan to meet objections, but the Assembly adopted a motion to close the question.

Chief objection was that board and faculty members might be of any religious denomination, or of none, which would mean that the Presbyterian church might be paying for instructors who were Anglicans, United Churchmen, Roman Catholics, Jews, or even atheists. It was contended that the principle of taking even parts of theological training away from the direct authority of the denomination itself was unwise.

Finnish Lutherans Get Youth Support

The Lutheran Church of Finland now has "a strong, wide front of religiously and socially interested youth," Bishop Ilmari Johannes Salomies declared in Copenhagen.

The Finnish cleric said churches have been crammed with worshippers since the end of the war, and the young clergy have shown a steadily mounting influence among the country's youth.

Bishop Salomies was in Copenhagen to attend a conference of bishops at which it is expected that plans will be discussed for a Scandinavian Church Council, embracing Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Norway, and Iceland. Bishop Hans Fuglsang-Damgaard of the Danish Lutheran Church has long advocated such a group.

Discussing increased co-operation and understanding between the Scandinavian countries, Bishop Eivind Berggrav of Norway stressed that "open dealing will be the policy, especially among church people. Fortunately, there are no insuperable difficulties before us," he added, "but even trifles can be dangerous if worked in secret."

Bishop Arne Fjellbu, former dean of Trondheim Cathedral who was placed in charge of the church's work in northern Norway during the war after its liberation by Russia, said conditions in the area are "terrible", as the country had been "absolutely devastated."

Plan Resume YMCA Europe Services

Plans for restoration of YWCA services in Europe were described in New York by Mrs. Evelyn W. Fox, World YWCA staff member, who has arrived in this country from Geneva, Switzerland.

Inter-country regional conference of YWCA workers will be held in Europe as soon as military conditions permit and transportation facilities are available, Mrs. Fox said. Tentatively planned are a North European conference for workers in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark; a French-speaking conference, probably in Geneva, to be attended by Swiss, Belgian, French, and Italian YWCA representatives; and a Near Eastern conference comprising representatives from Syria, Palestine, Egypt, and Turkey.

Also planned is an International Youth Camp in Belgium to bring together youth leaders of Europe for reorientation, training, and program planning for future YWCA work. Ultimately, it is hoped, there will be a meeting of the World YWCA leaders, probably in Geneva, but plans for this world-wide meeting have not been developed.

Beginnings of YWCA reconstruction work in Italy, France, Belgium, and Greece are already under way, Mrs. Fox stated. Reconstruction will be aided by relief funds raised in countries less affected by the war, assignment of personnel for temporary service in prostrate areas, and mutual assistance projects.

Relief funds are being raised in Great Britain, the United States, Canada, and Sweden for reconstruction purposes, according to Mrs. Fox.

A Father to His Soldier Son

By Lon Woodrum

Forgive me, son, for I was wrong
To worry when you used to take
The car and go out with your girl.
I used to doze off, then awake
And wonder if you'd wrecked the car!
Then when I'd hear you slam the door
At twelve o'clock—or one, or two—
I'd settle down and sleep once more.

I guess I didn't have much faith
And confidence in you, my lad.
You didn't seem quite old enough
To handle life without your dad!
But, oh, how quickly did you turn
Into a man—a man who wore
A soldier's garb, who went to make
A beachhead on a far-off shore!

I grumbled so that time you came
In home at nearly half-past two!
I hope, my fighting son, you can
Forgive my lack of faith in you.
I was afraid you'd wreck the car!
I worried when you stayed out late—
You who now hold within your hand
The future world and its fate!

And somehow in my deeper thought,
And in my secret heart I've found
The confidence that you who brought
The old car home all safe and sound,
By heaven's mercy yet will bring
This wounded world, though stained with blood
And burned with fire—you'll bring it back
To peace—and maybe, back to God!

Methodists Mark Birth of Bishop

The Methodist Recorder in London marked the bi-centenary of the birth of Francis Asbury, first Methodist bishop in America, by publishing a special four-page illustrated supplement to its regular edition. Contributers to the issue included Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the New York area of the Methodist church and president of the Federal Council of Churches.

Hold Friendship In India Church

If and when the United Church of South India is inaugurated, it will not be considered a Province of the Church of England, the Upper and Lower Houses of the Convocation of Canterbury were informed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Geoffrey Francis Fisher at a session of the Full Synod in Westminster Abbey.

However, the fact that the proposed United Church would be outside the Anglican communion, the Archbishop stressed, did not mean that harmonious relations could not exist with the Church of England.

"The terms communion and intercommunion are commonly used in many different senses", he declared. "For the sake of clarity, I prefer to say that there will be real and close friendship between the proposed Church and the Church of England. How could it be otherwise when it is engaged upon such a high venture of faith and contains so large a proportion of Anglicans? But in the proper and technical sense of the word the two Churches will not as Churches be in communion with one another".

Replying to suggestions that every member of the new United Church of South India would be eligible for admission to the Anglican Communion, the Archbishop said that in the early years of the new Church its visitors to England would be persons who had previous membership in one or other of the uniting churches.

Presumably, he added, if they were Anglicans before they would be admitted to communion as such, or if previously connected with Methodist, Presbyterian or Congregational missions they would be recognized as members of those denominations.

Later on there would be visitors whose only membership had been in the United Church, Dr. Fisher said, and when that situation arose it could be dealt with in the light of conditions then existing, and certainly without anything that amounted to full inter-communion.

The Archbishop cautioned that while the Anglican Communion's attitude toward the United Church was "critical" it was also "friendly and not hostile" and that "anything said now about the relationship could only be provisional".

Christian Science

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is John 1:17. One of the Scriptural citations is "And lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased" (Matthew 3:17). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is "The baptism of Spirit, washing the body of all the impurities of flesh, signifies that the pure in heart see God and are approaching spiritual Life and its demonstration" (p. 241).

Issues Appeal

An urgent appeal to the world for food, clothing and medicine was voiced in Vienna by Theodore Cardinal Innitzer, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Vienna, on the eve of his departure for Rome to confer with Pope Pius.

The Cardinal, whose courtyard is daily crowded with hungry Viennese and Balkan refugees begging assistance, stressed the need for supplies to exist through the coming winter, and pointed out the threat of permanent injury to the health of children unless food can be obtained for Vienna's war-swollen population.

To Study Marital Problems

Returning servicemen's marital problems will be discussed in panels led by two experts in the marriage field, at area conventions to be held Sept. 16-28 in ten upstate cities under auspices of the New York State Council of Churches.

Ask Ban on Atomic Bomb

America's use of the atomic bomb against Japan was condemned by 34 religious and educational leaders as "an atrocity of a new magnitude."

In a statement issued in New York they called upon President Truman to immediately discontinue production of the weapon and to press for "commitments by all nations outlawing the atomic bomb and also war, which has developed the technology of mass destruction."

Unleashing of this "cosmic disturbance" over Hiroshima and then Nagasaki, the signers said "dragged the war and all of us with it, to a new low of humanity."

Called to Rome

Cardinal Innitzer of Vienna has been called to Rome by the Vatican to report on the situation of the Catholic Church in Austria, it is learned in Rome. Exact date of the Austrian Cardinal's arrival is not known, although he is expected soon.

Sees New Bond

Nazi persecution of the Protestant and Roman Catholic faiths in Austria during the Hitler regime has created a new bond of friendship and understanding between the two groups, it was said in Vienna by Bishop May of the Evangelical Church of Austria.

U.S. Send Funds

The American section of the Lutheran World Convention has sent $25,000 to Geneva to provide religious literature for German prisoners of war in Europe, according to Dr. S. C. Michelfelder, American Lutheran pastor and American commissioner for the convention.

Sacred Music Conference

Nearly 300 students from 23 states and Canada attended the annual Rodeheaver Sacred Music Conference, conducted at Winona Lake, Ind., for 14 days by Dr. Homer Rodeheaver. Nine instructors served on the faculty, teaching classes in voice foundation, elementary conducting, speech and platform deportment, and piano and organ.

Restrictions Relaxed

Church conferences, councils and conventions in the United States may now have as many as 150 persons from more than 50 miles outside the convening city without obtaining permission from the War Committee on Conventions of the Office of Defence Transporation.

The relaxation on church conventions and religious meetings of all kinds is exactly the same loosening of restrictions which apply to secular and business meetings.

Religious Education Week

Forty Protestant denominations in the United States and 183 state, provincial and city councils of churches and religious education will take part in the 15th annual observance of Religious Education Week, September 30 to October 7, it was announced by Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the International Council of Religious Education.

Protestant churches in Canada will also observe the week, theme of which is "Character for a Free World." Dr. Ross said. In addition, governmental, educational and civic agencies will be invited to have a part in efforts to give further emphasis to Christian teaching.

Great Spiritual Job

Dr. Clarence T. Shedd, director of studies in religion and higher education at the Yale University Divinity School, declared that colleges and universities are facing a "great spiritual job" in directing mankind away from tendencies toward bestiality and from placing too much glory on technological accomplishments such as the atomic bomb.

Appoint New Head

The Rev. Martin d'Arcy, S.J., Master at Campion Hall, Oxford University, has been appointed Provincial of the English Province of the Society of Jesus. He succeeds the Rev. Francis Mangan, S.J. At the beginning of the war, Father d'Arcy was Dean of Philosophy at Fordham University, New York.

Train Women Workers

The Rev. Muriel Paulden, one of England's pioneer Free Church ministers, has announced plans for a Congregational Church Institute in Liverpool to train women workers.

First step will be the opening of a residential centre at which women will receive two years training in social science and religious knowledge. They will also get practical training in all departments of church and Sunday school work.

Jewish People Will Observe New Year Soon

Edmonton Jewish adherents of Congregation Beth Shalom, Talmud Torah Hall, 103 street, will be served during the approaching Jewish holiday season by Rabbi Isador B. Hoffman, who will officiate at services to be held at that time.

Rabbi Hoffman has devoted a lifetime to service of the Hebrew people. A graduate of Columbia University and of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, he was the first student from America to be enrolled at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, and spent a year of travel and residence in Palestine.

Church Influence In Germany Noted

The church still has influence in Germany despite Hitler's preaching of paganism, Dr. P. O. Bersell, president of the Augustana Lutheran Synod, reported after conferring with religious leaders in Europe.

"There are chaplains in the German army," he said. "There is only one to 15,000 soldiers, compared to an average of one chaplain to every 1,000 American soldiers. But being forced to have any chaplains at all must be a bitter pill for Hitler."

Dr. Bersell said the Nazis arrested many church leaders for the attempt on Hitler's life last July 20, well aware of the fact that the Church is the only organized resistance force in Germany.

"Although the plot has been generally publicized as military," he said, "it was also civilian. The Nazis suspected and arrested many church leaders.

"One such heroic pastor, when asked what his part in the attempt was, replied, 'As a Christian I could have nothing to do with a plot to murder a man, but I fully approve of the object.'

"He was shot the next morning."

In addition to Dr. Bersell, the Lutheran mission to Europe included Dr. Ralph H. Long, director of the National Lutheran Council; and the Rev. Lawrence B. Meyer, publicity director of the Missouri Synod. They visited Scotland, England, Sweden, France and Switzerland.

The church is stronger than ever in the Scandinavian countries, even the occupied ones, Dr. Bersell asserted. Although the destruction of the church buildings has been beyond comprehension, he said, the immediate task after the war will be to supply hard-hit countries with new pastors, with Bibles, and with Christian literature.

He said he felt it would be impossible to rebuild the destroyed cathedrals and other large buildings for many years.

Dr. Bersell reported on his trip to the 87th annual convention of the Minnesota Lutheran Conference of the Augustana Synod here.

Recreation, Sports Will Feature Celebration Labor Day Week-End

With a long week-end before them, Edmonton residents are expected, weather permitting, to enjoy themselves in any manner that suits their individual temperaments. Some will spend their hours of relief reclining at languorous ease in their homes, undisturbed until Tuesday morning by the strident commands of the alarm clock.

Others of a more vigorous turn of mind will devote their leisure time to their gardens, destroying weeds and garnering crops, cultivating flowers and even in mowing the lawn, or fixing up that leaky tap in the kitchen which has been bothering since early spring.

TO VISIT COTTAGES

There will be those who will betake themselves to summer resorts for a last check-up on summer cottages and, if it's not too cold, for a last dip in the lake.

Hikers will take up their haversacks, don stout boots and take to the open trail. Picnickers will invade wooded glens and munch cheerfully on sand and ant besprinkled sandwiches.

OTHER DIVERSIONS

But for those who wish to stay in the city, and who find that domestic delights, or horticultural pursuits do not strike a responsive chord, an impressive program has been prepared, since Sunday marks the official opening of Edmonton's Recreation Week, sponsored by the City of Edmonton Recreation Commission and supported by Edmonton civic and sporting organizations.

Though Sunday marks the official opening for the week, there will be a baseball game at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at Renfrew Park in which the Yanks and the U.S. Signals will play one of the final games in their best of seven series for the city's senior baseball title. It is expected too that a fastball game will be played in the Kingsway stadium.

The Sunday program opens with the first round in the Alberta open golf tournament at the Highlands Club. Competition for the Alberta open title, now held by Henry Martell of Edmonton will be keen, and Stan Leonard, pro golfer of Vancouver's Marine Drive golf club is figured by experts to be the strongest of the contenders for the Alberta title.

ANOTHER GAME

Another play-off game will be featured Sunday at Renfrew Park between the Yanks and the U.S. Signals at 3 p.m. At the same time in the Clark Stadium the Arrows and the Canadians will contest the final for the junior baseball crown. There will be another fastball game in the Kingsway grounds although details are not available as to the competitors.

Lawn Bowlers will commence competition at 8:45 a.m. Monday in the city tournament on bowling greens at Patricia Park, Garneau Green, Edmonton Green and the Royal Green.

At 9 a.m. Monday the golf tournament out at the Highlands will go into further stages and at the same time the Edmonton City Rifle Club will commence its junior and senior boys' .22 calibre rifle competition.

PLAN FULL DAY

The North Edmonton Community League plans a full day of entertainment on Monday commencing at 10 a.m. at its playground. The program will consist of ball games, children's races, bicycle races, band concerts and tournaments all to be concluded by a dance in the evening.

That youngsters may learn how to handle a baseball, a boys' baseball school opens in the Clark Stadium at 10 a.m., where the Yanks will provide tutelage in the finer points of the game.

Since many of these men have played with top professional teams in the States, it is expected that much will be gained by those students who attend the classes. Instruction is free and the school is sponsored by the USAAF and the Edmonton Junior League.

SENIOR CRICKET

Devotees of cricket will be given an opportunity to see their favorite game at the Victoria Park when Calgary cricketers will commence a game with a selected Edmonton team at 2 p.m.

At 12:30 p.m. in Clarke Stadium a provincial inter-scholastic track and field meet will present what the sponsors declare to be some of the finest track and field competition to be seen in Alberta. All events are to be held in accordance with American Athletic Union rules.

At 6:30 p.m. while the senior women's championship is being decided at Kingsway Park, the men's intermediate teams will meet in Renfrew Park.

Yanks and U.S. Signals will meet again in Renfrew Park for what may be the deciding game of the series at 6:30 p.m., and at the same time a junior play-off game will occupy the grounds at Clarke Stadium between the Arrows and the Canadians.

The girl with the HOE says—

Annuals will be hardier if you plant them this fall. You will save yourself some work next spring if you will sow them thinly.

If you have been having trouble with Salpiglossis, sow them this fall.

Get the cold frame going. Transplant parsley, pansies, and violas into it. You can have fresh mint for the lamb till late into the winter if you transplant a piece of mint into the frame.

Cut off and burn the old tops of perennials this fall. Don't leave them standing over winter, harboring fungus spores and insect eggs.

Divide and reset early spring blooming perennials such as bleeding hearts, peonies, leopard's bane, pyrethrums, Shasta daisies.

Sow these hardy annuals this fall and save work next spring—poppies, alyssum, calliopsis, bachelor's buttons, larkspurs and California poppies.

Save autumn leaves for the compost. It is a waste of good fertilizing material to burn them.

Peat moss is a fine mulch for late planted hardy perennials, shedding moisture well, and preventing heaving from thawing and freezing.

Ciano's Diary—No. 13

The Dagger Falls, And Duce Is Happy: Italy Is at War

But Ciano Writes: "God Help Italy"—Roosevelt's Pleas Brushed Aside

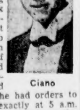
May 10 — June 10, 1940.

The hand that held the dagger struck a blow in the back of France on June 11, 1940, but planned it originally for June 5 and changed it to meet a wish of Hitler's that the Fuehrer himself later withdrew, it is revealed in the diary of Count Ciano, Italian foreign minister and son-in-law of Mussolini.

Almost from the first moment of the Nazi attack on France and the Low Countries, Italian intervention was assured, Ciano's account makes plain. He and Il Duce were concerned more with reducing to writing the Nazis' promises of Italy's postwar booty. Three appeals from President Roosevelt were brushed aside, and a proposal from French Foreign Minister Daladier was ignored contemptuously.

Ciano wrote:



Ciano

MAY 10 — "This is for history: I had a bad meal at the German embassy yesterday. . . . When we left at 12:25 Von Mackensen (Nazi ambassador) said he might have to disturb me during the night and took my private telephone number. At 4 a.m. he called to say that within three quarters of an hour he would see me and together we would go to Il Duce as he had orders to confer with him exactly at 5 a.m. He would say nothing about the reasons. . . .

Editor's note: Without warning, Germany invaded Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg at 5:30 a.m. on May 10, 1940.

Approves Hitler's Invasion Program

"We found Il Duce calm and smiling. He read Hitler's note listing the reasons for the action and concluded with an invitation to Mussolini to make the decisions he must now consider necessary for the future of his country. . . . After almost two hours Il Duce told Mackensen he was convinced that France and Great Britain were preparing to attack Germany through Belgium and Holland. He approved wholeheartedly of Hitler's action.

"During the morning I saw him (Il Duce) many times and, alas, found the idea of intervention growing stronger and stronger. Edda, too (Ciano's wife and Mussolini's daughter), has been at Palazzo Venezia and told her father that the country wants war and that continued neutrality would be dishonor.

"I confer with Poncet (French), Loraine (British) and Phillips (U.S.). They want news on the Italian attitude. . . . From intercepted telephone conversations, it appears they expect our answer momentarily. . . .

"Phillips said that what has happened will shake the American continent deeply. He made no prophecies, but I would not be surprised if the United States broke relations immediately with Germany as a prelude to intervention. . . .

"EDDA COMES to see me before leaving for Florence, and talks about immediate intervention, about the necessity to march, about honor and dishonor. I listen with impersonal courtesy. It's a shame that she who is so intelligent also refuses to reason. I tell her it will do her good to go to the Maggio Fiorentino (spring festival) where she may occupy herself with music to greater advantage. . . .

"Il Duce . . . says we must act quickly (in Yugoslavia). He marks his calendar about the first of June and decides to call Gambara (commanding Italian forces) back from Spain to command the forces that will attack. . . . The substitution of Churchill for Chamberlain is received with absolute indifference and with irony by Il Duce."

MAY 12—"The telegrams sent by the Pope to the rulers of the three invaded states have disturbed Mussolini, who would like to curb the Vatican. . . . He said, 'The Pope should not think that he can seek an alliance with the monarchy, because I am ready to explode both of them at the same time.' . . .

Editor's note: The Pope sent messages to Belgium, the Duchy of Luxembourg and Holland, saying he was praying for their victory.

"The King sends word that he will give the Collar of the Annunziata (Italy's highest decoration) to Goering, but wants to avoid sending a telegram of congratulations. . . . His Majesty desires that his wish be kept secret from Mussolini."

Duce Makes Up His Mind for War

MAY 13 — "Mussolini begins to speak as follows: . . . 'Within a month I shall declare war. I shall attack France and Great Britain by sea and air. I no longer think of action against Yugoslavia because it would be a humiliating sideline.'

"The Pope has said he is ready even to be deported to a concentration camp, but to do nothing against his conscience."

MAY 14—"Letter from Hitler to Il Duce. . . . It is a cocksure note, victories on land and, above all, in the air."

MAY 15—"Roosevelt sends a message to Il Duce. The tone is changed. It is no longer covertly threatening. It is rather a discouraged and concilliatory message. He speaks of the Gospel of Christ, but these are arguments that have little effect on Mussolini, particularly now when he feels victory is within his grasp."

MAY 18 — "Brussels fallen, Antwerp demolished, columns of tanks running through France as far as Soisson. . . . Francois-Poncet (the French ambassador) . . . knows the life of France is at stake. . . . He refuses to believe that Mussolini will rob Stalin of the glory of striking a fallen man. . . .

"I turn over to Phillips the short, curt answer to Roosevelt's message. He receives it without a word."

MAY 20 — "Mackensen mentions the possibility of a rapprochement between us and Russia through the mediation of Ribbentrop. I reply that we have no objection, provided the Russians take the initiative."

MAY 21—"I talked with Il Duce about the importance of defining clearly to the Germans our aspirations. If we really are to leap head first into this adventure, we must make a definite deal. . . . After the first of June I might see Ribbentrop and draw up a report on what will belong to us at the end of the war."

Roosevelt Tries Again for Peace

MAY 26—"Hitler has sent another letter to Il Duce, and a report to Alfieri (ambassador to Berlin) on his conference with Goering. Goering raised the question about the date of our intervention, and suggested we attack when the Germans can throw the whole weight of their power upon Paris after liquidating the Anglo-French-Belgian stronghold (Dunkirk). Il Duce agrees in principle."

MAY 27 — "Phillips was the bearer of a message from Roosevelt for Il Duce, but was not received and spoke with me. . . . Roosevelt offers to mediate between us and the Allies, assuming personal responsibility for the execution of any agreements. I tell Phillips that Roosevelt is off the road. It takes more than that to dissuade Mussolini. He does not want to obtain this or that. He wants war. If he could obtain double his claims by peaceful means, he would refuse."

MAY 29—"At 11 today in Palazzo Venezia the Supreme Command had its birth. Rarely have I seen Mussolini so happy. He has realized his dream to become the military chieftain of his country at war. . . . The decision is about to be made. Any day may be chosen after June 5 . . .

"The war must be brief. Not more than two or three months, according to Favagrossa (undersecretary of state for war production). . . . We literally are unsupplied with some metals. On the eve of a war we have only 100 tons of nickel."

MAY 30—"The die is cast. Mussolini gave me his letter to Hitler today about our entrance into the war. The date chosen is June 5, unless Hitler considers it convenient to postpone it. . . . Mussolini plans to speak to the people on the afternoon of June 4. One hour earlier I am to communicate to Poncet and Loraine the existence of a state of war. Il Duce wanted to omit 'this formality.' I insisted on it to save our faces."

Threat from U.S. Is Ignored

MAY 31 — "Another move by Roosevelt, this time more energetic. . . . He says Italy's intervention will bring about an increase in armaments in the United States, and a 'doubling' of assistance to the Allies. I reserve my answer until I have conferred with Mussolini, but tell Phillips offhand that Roosevelt's new attempt will suffer the same fate as his earlier ones, and will not move Il Duce. . . .

"I submit to Il Duce the proposed communique announcing the declaration of war. . . .

"DALADIER (French minister of foreign affairs) delivers a note to Guariglia, Italian ambassador in Paris. . . . It states clearly that every attempt will be made to avoid war, but Mussolini refuses to consider it. He decides he will not even answer it."

JUNE 1—"I give Il Duce's reply to Phillips. Briefly, it is this: America has no more interest in the Mediterranean than Italy has in the Caribbean. It is beside the point for Roosevelt to insist. He should realize his pressure will only stiffen Mussolini's stand.

Hitler Says O.K. To June 11

"Mackensen brings Hitler's written reply to Il Duce . . . He asks that the date be changed by a few days because shortly he proposes a decisive attack against French airfields. He fears Italian action might cause a reshuffling of French air forces, interfering with the German plan of destruction. Il Duce agrees in principle . . . he prefers the 11th, 'a fatal day for me.'

JUNE 2—"Il Duce writes his answer to Hitler. . . . He selects June 11.

During the evening Mackensen asks urgently for a hearing and in Hitler's name withdraws the earlier objections. It seems now that intervention sooner than the one proposed would be more welcome. This is impossible.

"We have moved some divisions and a declaration of war before June 11 would catch them in half-stride.

JUNE 3—"Alfieri telegraphs Hitler's approval. . . . Mussolini says the King, too, finds the date satisfactory, perhaps because of the slight delay, perhaps because of his birthday (Nov. 11), and perhaps because as a recruit he was assigned No. 1111."

JUNE 4—"A council of ministers. All are expecting political sensations, but Il Duce capriciously gives today's meeting a strictly administrative character. . . . Only at the first, he said, 'This is the last council meeting in peace.' . . . I assumed command of a squadron of bombers a' Pisa."

JUNE 5—"Il Duce, who had planned previously an air attack on France, has decided now to bomb British ports in the Mediterranean and to remain passive (toward France) . . . 'unless our action would finish the job.'"

JUNE 6—"I find Il Duce angry. . . . His Majesty has written a letter in which he repeats that he assumes command, entrusting at the same time to Mussolini the political and military conduct of the war."

* * *

JUNE 8—"New German successes, but one still cannot speak of a breakthrough. . . . Mussolini reads to me the speech he will deliver at 6 p.m. Monday (June 10) when the nation will be called to listen. . . . Il Duce . . . is happy about French resistance because 'the Germans at last are being weakened and will not reach the end of the war too fresh and too strong."

JUNE 9—"Il Duce was angry this morning at the Germans. From an intercepted telephone call it was learned that Ribbentrop pretended to know the content of Mussolini's speech. . . .

"Mackensen brings a message from Hitler to Il Duce. His best wishes. . . . He accepts the offer of the Bersaglieri (crack Italian troops), and will send some regiments of Alpine soldiers in exchange."

The Dagger Falls; 'God Help Italy'

JUNE 10—"Declaration of war. I received Poncet first who tried not to betray his emotion. After listening to the declaration, he replied: 'It is a dagger blow struck at a fallen man.'

Editor's note: President Roosevelt, speaking the same day at the University of Virginia, said, "The hand that held the dagger has struck it into the back of its neighbor."

"'The Germans are hard masters. You will become aware of it.' I did not answer. This did not seem the time for debate. 'Don't get yourself killed,' he concluded, pointing to my air-force uniform, and he clasped my hand.

"Sir Percy Loraine was more laconic and inscrutable. He received my communication without batting an eye. . . .

"Mussolini speaks from the balcony of Palazzo Venezia. The news of the war does not surpise anyone, and does not arouse very much enthusiasm. I am sad, very sad. . . . May God help Italy."

(Tuesday: Mussolini bows to Hitler again.)

Another policyholder reports . . .

"I AM A BANKER, the father of a son, and a policyholder in The Mutual Life of Canada. Many years ago my father, who was also a banker, and who saw directly how life insurance can benefit men and women in many ways, impressed on me the value of life insurance. He obtained a policy for me when I was a child, and when I started to work in a bank in my early twenties I purchased another $1,000 policy with The Mutual Life

"WHEN I MARRIED I insured again, for a larger amount, to give my wife the protection she needed. I chose 20 Pay Life insurance, preferring that plan because I have to make only twenty payments of the same amount, during my best earning years, and then my insurance will be paid-up. When I am ready to retire I can, if I wish, use the cash value of my insurance to purchase a monthly income.

"Now, from my own experience as a banker, I am realizing the wisdom of my father's advice and am teaching my son the value of life insurance."

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

IN VIEW of the announcement under Saskatoon dateline of the meeting to be held in Calgary next week-end, it seems that the decision as to whether Edmonton will be represented in senior hockey next season, cannot be delayed much longer.

Calgary and Saskatoon are all set to go and already must know just where they stand both from the player and financial angle. The Saskatoon arena is controlled by a private company and evidently the directors are convinced that in order to make it is also necessary to spend money. The Calgary arena is owned by the Exhibition Association with Lloyd Turner, a smart operator, in charge.

It must be quite obvious that real clubs, senior or junior, cannot be run for just peanuts. And it accordingly follows that if the owners of the Edmonton arena consider hockey essential from the financial viewpoint, they too will be playing ball with the organizations trying to promote the game.

YANKS SERIOUS ABOUT IT

WITH two already in the bag, it looks as if the Yanks intend to settle the city senior title series in four straight. Helmuth Brown pitched grand ball up to the seventh frame last night and holding the Yanks to three hits in six innings was no mean accomplishment.

Yesterday's was Johnny Gray's eighth consecutive win, he having collected seven during the regular schedule. Red McKenna is slated to pitch for Yanks tonight and Capt. Clarence Archer says Bob Gilbert will go for Signals.

Frank Hackney, who played in all of his team's scheduled fixtures during the season, was out of the Yank lineup again last night, being still in hospital. Frank, incidentally, drove in 30 runs this year, just two under Ivan Crumly's total which was high for the league. He had two homers, five triples and 12 doubles, the latter a league record.

HERE AND THERE . . .

LAUREL HARNEY, former Edmonton ball player (he caught the opening game for the Dodgers while on a visit here last spring) had a big share in the organization of the company which would control the Victoria franchise in the revamped Western International pro circuit. Night ball, something new for Victoria fans, is proposed and 35,000 berries are being raised to put the deal over.

Calgary's junior football league will open tonight, with Bill Wusyk's North Hill club opposing East End Stampeders coached by Dean Griffing, former Regina Rough Rider.

Bobby Feller will be pitching for Cleveland Indians against Hal Newhouser, the Tigers' ace in today's American League game at Detroit.

Tigers now have lost their last four to the Tribe and have six more to go that may prove disastrous in the pennant fight which is getting hotter every day. Detroit still in first place, has lost five out of their last six games, while the Yankees continue to bump the Senators.

Galvin Hits 3-Run Double; Circuits by Bell, Sawyer, Crumly

Yanks Make It Two Straight Over Signals

3 Homers As Army Wins 8-4

DOWN one going into the seventh, Yanks counted four and then added another in the eighth to overcome U.S. Signals 8-4 at Renfrew Park on Friday night for two straight in the best of seven series for the city senior baseball title. Yanks took the first last Tuesday, 2-1.

It was John Galvin's double with two down and the bases all populated which settled the affair, but three home runs loomed largely in the game.

Wilbur Bell hoisted the ball over the right field boards with Crumly on in the second, but Bob Sawyer came right back in the Signallers' half of the same frame and blasted one into the left field bleachers after Les Nelson had singled.

Crumly's homer over the left field fence behind the bleachers was one of the longest hits of the year. It came in the eighth with nobody on.

Johnny Gray pitched six-hit ball, four of the blows going to Nelson and Sawyer and only one Signaller got as far as the middle station in other than the second and sixth stanzas.

Helmuth Brown had allowed just three hits up to the seventh. A walk to Crumly and Bell's homer gave Yanks two runs in the second and Bell's double, a passed ball and Gino Valenti's flyout gave the Army nine a 3-2 edge in the fourth.

Valenti's double, a single by Burchfield, a walk to Manuel Dorsky ahead of Galvin's two-bagger meant three runs in the seventh and Galvin came in when Beane overthrew third.

Nelson singled over Kampouris' head to open the Signal half of the second and Sawyer parked the ball in the left field bleachers. Dave Parkin's single with two out in the sixth, a stolen base, along with a walk to Jim Junker and Nelson's double to the right field fence gave Signals two runs and put them out in front 4-3.

Three Reach Semi-Finals In Garneau Tennis Singles

With three contestants reaching the semi-final stages in the men's open singles, matches were resumed in fine style last night in the Garneau Tennis Club tournament, after being delayed due to bad weather.

Before winning out, Bob Esau was extended to an extra set by Ed Hall in the first match of the men's singles. Winning the first set 6-3, Hall came back to take the second 6-4, but dropped the rubber set 6-3. In the other two matches, Les McManus defeated Dick Grunert 6-1, 6-3, while Harry Kinloch finished on the long ends of 6-3, 6-0 scores over Fred Hewick.

Big feature in the mixed doubles were two extra set matches. Howard Hall and Isobel Hooper, after dropping the first set 4-6, came back strong to take the last two from Bob Henning and Mary Collins 6-3, 6-4. Losing the first set 2-6, Bob Esau and Norma McKay took two straight from J. McIlveen and Sheila Toshach.

Friday's results and draws for today are as following:

M.O.S.—Bob Esau def. Ed. Hall 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; Les McManus def. Dick Grunert 6-1, 6-3; H. Kinloch def. F. Hewick 6-3, 6-0.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope

At Kassel, Germany, we found that our unit No. 676 was getting better at living off the land than the Russian infantry. We were scheduled near Munich and were headed there, but all at once the weather closed down tighter than a safety belt on Crosby's pocketbook, and we had to set down at Kassel and sweat it out. We really were pretty lucky, considering the flying we had to do. That was the first time we'd missed a show. What a welcome we got when we swooped into Kassel! Soon as we landed a private, first class, came rushing across the field and said, "Get that plane offa the runway." But when I got out and explained who I was, he changed his tune. He said, "Get that plane offa the field." About that time I heard a tremendous explosion and saw a big column of smoke rising about a quarter of a mile away. Then there was another explosion and more smoke.

BOB HOPE

I began to wonder if "V-E" Day had been just another of those rumors, until someone explained that the guys around Kassel had just found a stack of 300 500-pound German bombs back in the woods and were exploding them. Finally we got a parking permit for our plane and while we were standing around comparing appetites and trying to pick out a nice warm tree to billet in, up walked a Cleveland boy named Frank Cheek, a lieutenant and a club officer. From the way we jumped him and started shaking hands, you'd have thought he was W. C. Fields walking into a whisky company. I won't say we tried to get friendly, but in two minutes I was sitting on his lap running my fingers through his hair, while Patty stood in the background singing, "Love in Bloom."

We volunteered to do a fast show (we insisted on eating first so there would be no slipups), and at 5:45 we were sitting in the mess hall. At 5:48 we were yelling for seconds. You've heard how the atomic bomb vaporizes everything within a radius of miles. Well, you should have seen our unit in the mess hall. The same thing. After dinner we drove through the town and all agreed that Kassel was smashed up more by bombs than any town we've seen so far. You could stand on a chair almost any place down town and see all over the whole place.

We also saw the ex-Kaiser's summer palace outside town. It was a big stone castle and it really had been looted. The place looked like Superman had gone through it with a vacuum cleaner. I was pretty tired but was afraid to go to bed. Just pounded the mattress and sprained three knuckles.

Senators Drop Two

Yankees Just Four Games From First-Place Tigers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Ernie Bonham and Al Gettel last night pitched New York Yankees to within four games of the American League lead by beating Washington Senators twice, 3-2 and 3-1.

After Bonham won the first game before the season's largest crowd, 30,036, Gettell shut the Senators out until the ninth inning of the nightcap.

The victories were the fifth and sixth straight scored by the Yankees over the Senators within a week.

Fastball Program Kingsway Park Is Re-Arranged

Kingsway's program for sports week has had to be revised due to the fact that three of its championship clubs will be out of the city during the coming week. Clippers, Walk-Rites and Athletics will be competing for their titles in Regina, Saskatoon and Medicine Hat, respectively.

On Monday evening, intermediate girls' champions of Alberta, the Mannville Bluebirds will meet a club composed mainly of Army and Navy Pats and Mortons players.

The Wednesday game between the Edmonton Intermediate all-stars and the Kingsway all-stars will be played as scheduled. Friday evening, Saskatoon Aces, runners-up to the Saskatoon Pats for the championship there will invade the city to take on the Mortons club. Next Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon, this visiting club will clash with the Army and Navy Pats.

The men at Kingsway will battle it out for the city title in their games on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. There will be no games at Kingsway tomorrow.

Starts Tomorrow

Big Entry Expected In the Alberta Open

Close to 80 golfers, one of the largest entries in the history of the tournament, are expected to tee off Sunday morning, the first ones going at 9 o'clock, in the Alberta open at the Highlands Golf Course Sunday and Monday.

Due to the fact that confirmation of entries from some of the out-siders was not received last night, it was unable for the draw committee to arrange the games for Sunday before tonight. Players, however, may phone the Highlands club for times and pairings.

The feature trio, which will likely include Stan Leonard, outstanding pro from Vancouver Marine Drive Club, defending champion Henry Martell, Highlands amateur, and Pat Fletcher, Highlands pro and top professional in last year's Alberta Open, will tee off around 10 o'clock in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon on Sunday.

A number of other top ranking outsiders will also be making their shots over the Highland Course this week-end in addition to a large entry of city pros and amateurs, including champions from all city clubs as well as the pros.

The course is in excellent shape for the big affair and if the weather is suitable, it should make for a rousing tournament.

Canadians Meet Arrows Sunday

Fifth game in the best of seven series between Canadians and Arrows for the city junior baseball championship will be played Sunday afternoon at Clarke Stadium starting at 3 o'clock.

Arrows led the series three games to one and a victory tomorrow would give them the championship and a berth in the provincial finals. Mike O'Neill of Arrows and Wes Hicks or Bob Fleming of Canadians will likely be doing the chucking.

All-Star Junior Game Is Planned For Monday Night

An all-star junior baseball game is planned for Monday night at Clarke Stadium, providing a sixth game isn't necessary in the best of seven series for the Edmonton Junior Baseball League championship.

If Arrows win Sunday's tilt, which starts at 3 o'clock, an all-star team from the three other teams in the loop will meet the Arrows, who would then be city champs.

Two players for each position and a six-man pitching staff has been selected for the all-stars. Named to the pitching staff are Eric Wigeland, EAC; Tom McGregor, Wes Hicks and Bob Fleming, Canadians; Hal Pruden, South Side.

Following are the others selected: Bill Gadsby and Don Murray, catchers; Sandy Gilchrist and Jack Sugden, first base; Bill Price and Grant De Fraine, second base; Cyril Thomas and Terry Cavanagh, third base; Gerry Heaney and Ted Brown, shortstop; Alex Romaniuk, Ken Anderson, left field; Horace Boychuk and Ron Markin, centre field; Doug McClocklin and Don Metheral, right field.

Clippers Knot Semi-Final On Mike Milner's 2-Hitter

U.S. Army Clippers returned to form last night at Kingsway Park when they shut out Moose 9-0 in second game of the senior men's best of three fastball semi-finals, to tie up the series at one game each. In the first game on Tuesday night, Moose won 4-2.

Superb pitching by Mike Milner, who allowed only two hits, displaying good defensive ball in the field, and bunching of the majority of their ten hits, were the main factors in the Clippers' triumph.

Both blows off Milner were from the bat of Pete Husar, Moose shortstop, with a single in the second and a double in the eighth. During the whole nine innings only two of the losing players managed to get as far as third.

From the second stanza on, when they pushed over a couple of runs to start them off, the winners notched a singleton in both the third and fifth to always be in the driver's seat. They coasted home with a pair in the eighth and three more in the final inning to complete their total for the night.

Former Official Of Hospital Dies

CALGARY, Sept. 1. — (CP) — Major Arthur George Goss Willson, 60, former business superintendent of the Provincial Mental Hospital at Ponoka, died in hospital here yesterday afternoon.

McCoy Health Service

The term epilepsy comes from the Greek and means "seizure" or "falling sickness". The severe form of the disease, known as Grand Mal is marked by convulsions and loss of consciousness. The less severe form is known as Petit Mal and may be marked by a momentary loss of consciousness. The patient may appear to be day-dreaming, may stare straight ahead, forget what he is doing, or drop whatever is in his hands.

Many of the great men in history have been epileptics, including Caesar, Moliere, and Peter the Great. The popular attitude toward this disorder is that there is little hope for recovery, however the picture is not as bad as it is painted, and I have known personally of many cases in which a satisfactory cure was established.

Hudson's Bay Beaver Club Holds Annual Sport Event

More than 30 members of the Hudson's Bay Beaver Club were awarded prizes for various events at the annual Beaver Club outing held at the Municipal Golf Course and Victoria Park Wednesday afternoon.

In spite of the rain, several took part in the two-ball foresome competition while others took part in fastball games and horseshoe pitching contests.

In the evening adjournment was made to the Acacia Hall on the south side, where a box luncheon was served and the prizes were awarded. Dancing followed.

PRIZE WINNERS

Prize winners were as follows: Two-ball foresome, first prize, Dave Havard and Vivian Biddell; second, A. S. Woollard and Joan De Jourdan. Horseshoe pitching, first, Spud Muir and Martha Pester; second, Les McCartney and L. Wilson. Men's single horseshoes, first, Walter Jeandron; second, Vernon Normie.

The winning team in fastball, captained by Wes Plummer, comprised: Doris Williamson, Frank Howitt, Johnny Poohkoy, Elizabeth Getzinger, Norman Shonert, Margaret Masters, Walter Jeandron, Irene Hewins, Ruby Matthew, Boyd Dalzell, Henry Chaba and May Pope.

Hidden prizes in the three fastball games were won by Alf Willie for being the first to fall, Mary Wilson for being the first girl to fall, Russell Stogryn, for making the most noise, Alberta Johnson, the first girl to get hit with the ball, Marg Masters for making the longest hit; Irene Hewins, the first girl to slide into base; Frank Howitt, for making the winning run; Doris Williamson, the first girl to fall in the second game; Joyce Neary, the first girl to cross the home plate in the third game, and Norman Shonert, the first boy to strike out.

OTHER PRIZES

Other prizes were awarded to the following: Adelle de Morris, Anne Nixon, Don Hudson, Vivian Hopkins, Elizabeth Getzinger, George Benon, Laurie Paradise, Bob Murray, Clint Bowen, Mary Flavin and Lyall S[illegible]

Those responsible for arrangements were Val Berg, president of the Beaver Club; Frank Howitt and Spud Muir.

Repatriation 2nd Division To Start Soon

By WILLIAM BOSS

UTRECHT, Holland, Sept. 1.—(CP) — If Canadian Army repatriation plans go according to schedule, the 1st Division will be entirely away from the continent and repatriation of the 2nd Division will be well under way by the end of September, it was learned reliably yesterday.

It also is expected that Canadian forces in the Netherlands will be scaled down to the 130-point level.

As soon as the 1st Division's move from Holland is completed Sept. 12, repatriation of 7,000 troops with points ranging between 130 and 150 will begin. In daily drafts of 1,000 these men are scheduled to proceed to the Nijmegen repatriation camp between Sept. 12 and Sept. 18.

POINT SYSTEM

(Under the point system for repatriation, a soldier receives three points for each month of overseas service and two points for each month's service in Canada. He adds 20 per cent to the total figure if he is married or a widower or divorced with dependent children. If he is a widower or divorced but without dependent children he does not qualify for the extra 20 per cent.)

There are 125,000 officers and other ranks with between 130 and 150 points but 5,500 have expressed a preference for repatriation with units.

It was announced in mid-July that the bulk of the army will be moved home almost entirely by units and sub-units remustered into territorial groups as closely as possible.

STARTS SEPT. 19th

Movement of 2nd division starts Sept. 19 and 9,000 will be moved by Sept. 27. That will exhaust the September shipping quota and plans for movement of the remainder of the division will be available only when the shipping allocation is known here.

It is stated that the repatriation program now is more than 22,000 ahead of schedule.

Another reallocation program now under way involving the transfer from Holland to the United Kingdom of 10,000 men ineligible for immediate repatriation to Canada. They will be used to replace that many stationed in Britain who have more than 150 points and have yet to be repatriated.

Scouts Will Camp In City Next Week

Boy Scouts will take an active part in Edmonton's Recreation Week from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8, Vernon Pearson, Boy Scout commissioner, announced Saturday. Commencing Sunday, Sept. 2, the public will be given the opportunity to see scouting at its best.

Arrangements have been made to open a scout camp near the low level bridge below the Macdonald hotel steps. Two patrols of Boy Scouts will be camping there all during recreation week. Scout activities, camp fire programs and demonstrations of Boy Scout work will be open for public inspection.

Rocky Mountain Brother Trio Featured in Holland Magazine

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE.—News of the three Fredine brothers of Rocky Mountain House has come from a little paper, "Fifty Forum," published at Hengelo, Holland, by the Lake Superior Regiment. The article is entitled "We Also Have a Trio," and is headed by a picture of Ade and Henry.

In part the article says, "'A' Company would like to introduce and give credit to our trio, the Fredine Brothers, Ade, Arthur and Henry of Rocky Mountain House, Alberta, Canada. Ade came overseas with the company, while Art and Hank joined us at Farnham, England. Since then they have been the spark plug of three platoons.

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

NOW that the battles are over and the cost of victory has been counted there are two questions it is timely to consider. One is what date will be set to mark the victory corresponding to November 11, Remembrance Day for those who died in World War I. The other is how are we going to honor our dead—what kind of memorials are we going to raise to those who bought us our victory in World War II

The Victory Day, or Remembrance Day for World War II will undoubtedly be set by agreement by the heads of the United Nations. Whether we will continue to have a Remembrance Day for World War I as well as one for World War II, or whether they will be both observed on the same day, and what form the observances will take will be a question for the federal government to determine.

But the question of determining what kind of memorials we will raise to the memory of the men who will never return will have to be determined by each community. While it is not a pressing problem it is one on which we have already heard much discussion, and it is occupying the minds of a great many of our servicemen and citizens right now. It is a problem which deserves the careful consideration of each and every citizen.

While statues, cairns and plaques are all very appropriate, and have been the conventional method of commemorating battles, victories and heroes ever since man first discovered how to wage war, nobody seems to be very enthusiastic about setting up more of them. For one thing very few of those we have are outstanding examples of the higher forms of sculpture. And there are things that this country needs more than statues.

SOMETHING BETTER

It seems to me that a memorial should be something better than an artist's conception of what a [illegible] soldier looks like or a mediocre copy of a Greek sculptor's master-

Returning Airmen Receive Warm Welcome on Arrival at CNR Depot

Record time was made by Auxiliary services in clearing the CNR station of the more than 60 airmen who arrived in the city on Saturday morning on a special train. Rotarians in their cars were waiting to whisk the men to their homes and as each man left the platform he received a package of cigarettes and a chocolate bar.

In less than five minutes every man was away from the station.

Flt Lt. J. F. McCann, who flew a tour of duty in Britain's famous Spitfires, was greeted by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McCann of 12940 119 street. He plans to enjoy his 30-day leave and is hoping that he will soon be released from the service.

There were a large number of radar mechanics on the train. Among them was Sgt. J. F. Wendt who was greeted by his wife [illegible] at the Rochester Apartments. His mother, Mrs. W. F. Wendt, 10722 104 avenue, two sisters, Mrs. J. J. Cheney, who lives with his mother, and Mrs. J. Clark of 10743, University avenue and Mr. Clark.

DIRECTS MUSIC [illegible]

Music teachers and music students stand on the threshold of a new season: Victory in Europe came just before the end of the last teaching season and academic year. Triumph over Japan arrived as preparations were completed for the new year. Now all is in readiness for the opening of the era for which the world has been waiting for six years—the post-war period.

The high, almost overwhelming pressure of the last six years with their inestimable human sacrifices and astronomical economic expenditure and material destruction have wrought changes in the world as yet incompletely assessed.

In the chemical laboratories and in the great factories the wartime [illegible]

Nevertheless in nearly every case, it will help beyond all computation, all those who have had the opportunity to engage in it.

In view of the recorded testimony of many [illegible]

Whether a child studies music with the idea of becoming a professional or as a part of general education, it is a valuable subject in the general culture of mankind. Music is not studied only by those who are to become professionals. Every person who studied arithmetic is not destined to become a mathematician.

Dancing Schools Commence 1945-46 Academic Year

Edmonton Is Well Provided With Facilities to Learn Ballroom, Ballet Novelties

Although it is one of the oldest forms of emotional expression and has undergone many changes through the centuries, dancing today retains its appeal, and is at a peak of popularity and diversity never before attained.

Indissolubly associated with music, dancing enjoyed a tremendous vogue during the war years. Ballets have sprung up. Musical productions have found that they stand a far greater chance of success if they incorporated specialty dancing. In recent Victory celebrations dancing was encouraged and featured.

This city stands apart from most cities of its size by reason of the high quality of tuition provided in dancing. One may learn quickly how to dance so that one may take part in normal social activities. On the other hand if ballet or other advanced, more elaborate types of dancing are required, city studios may provide that too.

Excellent Results in Practical and Theoretical Examinations

DOROTHY DIX SAYS:

Scientist Says Training Does Much for Females

Rigorous Physical Conditioning of Females, Together With Practice in the Art of Judo Might Go Far To Restore to the Family an Equilibrium

One of the most famous scientists is an ardent advocate of peacetime military training for all able-bodied young women, as well as men. He says:

"Rigorous physical conditioning of females, together with practice in the art of judo and in the use of firearms, might go far to restore to the family an equilibrium of parental control. It would also improve the physiques and general beauty of women by teaching them proper posture and a graceful gait.

"Besides, by [illegible] excess and peculiarly localized fatty deposits it would enable them to wear pants without creating a repellent spectacle. Dressing all women in uniform would finally convince men that in truth "women are all alike," and consequently that there is no hurry about grabbing any one of them for a [illegible].

TOOK A SCIENTIST

Well, for pity's sake, who would have thought that it would take a scientist, and an anthropologist at that, to figure out the answer to the problems [illegible] to death and [illegible] grew before [illegible]. Such as, how to retain [illegible]. How to keep their husbands from roaming? How to keep bobby-sockers in line? How to be the heads of their houses instead of the doormats that their families trampled on and kicked around?

Heretofore women have attempted to solve these problems by prayer and tears and appeals to the [illegible] of their husbands and children [illegible] was their mistake. The answer to the riddle is: Muscle, with a touch of judo. The philandering husband's heart might not be moved by his wife's weeping, but a blow at his solar plexus would make him watch his step. Nor would any teenager dare to sass Mom if she knew that Mom packed a wallop in her good right arm.

It is because women have always been the weaker sex physically that they had to take whatever sort of [illegible] that was not worse, so it [illegible] they would gain by their all being turned into WACS and WAVES, trained to hold their own in any family fight.

FLY IN OINTMENT

But alas, there is a fly in the ointment, and putting pistol packing Mama in uniform [illegible] to be sheer gain to her. It is going to boom the old maid crop, for few men will want to marry something that looks like a caricature of their little brothers and who is a better man than they are. Also it would cause women to throw away the weapons of offence and defence that they have been perfecting for thousands of generations and to adopt new methods of attack, and it is doubtful if any amount of brute force would ever get as much out of a man as a few pearly tears, or [illegible] sharp tongue in her mouth.

Of course, conscripting women into the army in times of peace and giving them a preliminary training [illegible] a catch, for it would deprive the [illegible] which is enjoying poor health. Most women would sooner admit to a scandal than to being strong and well. We all know hundreds of them who are too weak to do their housework, but who can walk ten miles around the aisles of a department store and dance all night at a party. And to expect them to give up this alibi for doing what they [illegible] don't want to do is asking too much. Their poor nerves won't stand it.

And there you are with women. Nobody can guess 'em.

THESE WOMEN—"Bad Towser! You'll be lucky if you even get an honorable mention this year!"

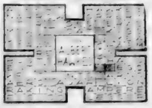
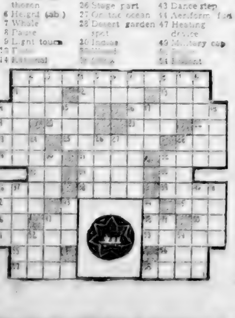
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is possible to get a child to swallow his food by forcing him to do so, but no liking for food is developed when every meal is made disagreeable by the use of force.

Eating is more than just a means of getting nourishment as anyone who eats alone—and then in company — can testify. It is also a highly social ceremony. Good company and interesting conversation make eating more than just a means of keeping alive, in which case just enough food to satisfy hunger pangs is taken.

Mrs. E. D. knows what my answer would be to such a question as: 'What do you think of a mother who sits with a club by her while her 3 year old eats? She curses the child and says, 'You eat this, or else.'

"She runs at the child with her teeth gritted. He is a sweet child and will mind if treated rightly. He is never in bed until ten or later [illegible] this in your column."

In discussing all kinds of parental problems in this column, I must take for granted that parents are eager to correct their mistakes and that they love their children. My usefulness ends when it is apparent the mother is a woman of closed mind and unloving spirit.

My opinion of such a person is obvious. She shows herself to be mean, ignorant and indifferent.

If she weren't mean she would not threaten a small child with a club in order to make him eat. If she were not ignorant she would know that there could be no surer way of depriving him of appetite and any enjoyment in the food he is [illegible].

If she weren't indifferent she [illegible] would try to improve her conduct. [illegible] pretty hopeless? I do. The pity is that she has the care of a child when she is so ill-fitted for it and the blessing of children when she is so undeserving of it.

Our leaflet on "Undesirable Punishments" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle [illegible].

Grant Discharges To Get Education

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Naval and air personnel in Canada who intend to attend university or pursue similar educational studies now are eligible for immediate discharge [illegible] announced Friday.

A similar policy for the army was announced earlier this week.

Air Minister Gibson, who spoke also for Navy Minister Abbott, said personnel desiring release under this provision must make written application to their naval officer in charge or air officer commanding and submit documentary evidence that they have been accepted for enrolment at a university or college.

He added that it [illegible]

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

DISINFECTION OF DRINKING WATER

Water from the tap in almost any community where there is municipal water supply is as safe to drink as is the food in the same area to eat. Besides the local health board or department, there is the state or provincial health board or department backing—these officers, experts, authorities are responsible to the public and, if you ask me to have a drink, I'll take mine from the tap of the village, town or city supply.

However, how can one tell whether water from a wayside spring, well, stream, pond or puddle is safe to drink in an emergency? One can't be sure it is safe to drink just because it looks clean, clear and pure and tastes all right. One way is to carry a small supply of Halazone tablets in the pocket emergency kit and add one tablet to a quart of water, shake it up, let stand a few minutes, when the water will be safe to drink. Halazone is a chlorine compound, designed for emergency disinfection of drinking water. Another way is to dissolve a level teaspoonful of "chloride of lime" [illegible] bleaching powder [illegible] ounces each of water, to make the mother solution. Use a teaspoonful of this mother solution to a gallon of the questionable water, shake it up, let it stand twenty minutes, and then the water will be safe to drink. A third way for emergency disinfection of questionable water is by putting five drops of standard Mild Tincture of Iodine (U.S.P.) in a quart of the water, shaking it up, letting it stand fifteen minutes. In this method it is all right if you use anywhere from three to eight drops, five drops being just the [illegible].

All of these methods for disinfecting drinking water are for emergency use only and are not suitable for constant use, although any of them is reliable and unobjectionable to use for several days or a week if necessary.

Now for Pete's sake don't get into a technical discussion with the druggist's devil about which [illegible] you want—no matter what the [illegible] says about it there is [illegible] strength of Mild Tincture of Iodine and if the label says MILD Tincture of IODINE you need not bother about the [illegible] other strengths the clerk enjoys [illegible]. If you let the clerk sell you anything else than MILD Tincture of Iodine, that's your problem—I can't help you. I'm warning you to make certain the label on the iodine vial is printed MILD TINCTURE of IODINE—and beware of the stuff if the word mild is written on the [illegible] Tincture of Iodine. Incidentally, MILD TINCTURE OF IODINE comes with a "poison" label, for a peculiar trade reason which we need not stop to deplore here. If you are likely to be frightened by the "poison" or skull and crossbones [illegible] forget the whole business or use one of the other methods for disinfecting drinking water.

Letters should be brief, and written in ink. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino South, Beverly Hills, Calif.)

GREEN TOMATO-CABBAGE RELISH

(Using Brown Sugar)
(Makes About 4 Quarts)

Four quarts (about 24 to 28 medium-sized) chopped green [illegible] allspice, 2 teaspoons celery seed, 2 teaspoons mustard seed, 1 pound (2 cups firmly packed) brown sugar, 1 quart vinegar.

Sprinkle layers of tomatoes, cabbage, onion, and sweet pepper with salt. Let stand overnight; drain. Add allspice, celery seed, mustard seed, sugar and vinegar. Boil 25 [illegible] ingredients well. Pack into clean, hot, sterile jars. Fill jars to top; seal tightly.

CORN RELISH—(1 Cup Sugar)
(Makes About 5 Pints)

Two quarts corn (12 to 15 ears), 1 pint diced sweet red pepper, 1 pint diced green pepper, 1 quart chopped celery, 1 cup sliced onion, 1 cup sugar, 1 quart vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons celery [illegible] flour; blend with the water. Add with the corn to pepper mixture. Stir and boil 5 minutes. Pack into clean, hot, pint jars, filling to one-half inch of top. Adjust lids and boil jars 10 minutes in boiling water bath (be sure water covers jars). Remove jars; complete the seals. For added yellow color mix 1 teaspoon of turmeric with the [illegible].

Points for Parents

Father: "It's going to be interesting to watch Bill develop. Right now he's a little bundle of possibilities and we'll try to guide him as wisely as we can."

Father: "We figure that little children are like putty. Parents can mold them as they wish and we're going to make our son the sort of a boy we want."

Parents can watch and guide with more success than they can train and mold.

"When I went to visit my auntie who lives up in the mountains," said Susie May, "I used to stand on [illegible] at the other mountain peaks. There were dark GREEN [illegible] GREEN slopes with YELLOW fences, to mark off the farms on them. There was a little BROWN house on long YELLOW legs that stood on the side of one slope. The house had a RED chimney and a YELLOW roof, and there was a long GRAY (use BLACK lightly) streamer of smoke coming out of the little chimney.

The peaks way far off were a light PURPLE and the sky was a deep BLUE near the mountain peaks and faded out to a very light BLUE way up in the sky. There was a big white cloud in the sky, too—and, oh, I must not forget the flowers, there was a bunch of lovely BLUE phlox growing right at my [illegible]. Some were plain white daisies with YELLOW centres and some had YELLOW and BROWN centres, but all had bright GREEN [illegible].

YELLOW-haired Susie May wore a white frock that had big PINK (use RED lightly) dots all over it, and was trimmed with bands of PINK material around the neck and sleeves, and the edge of her panty legs. Canadian Officers May Train Dutch

THE HAGUE, Sept. 1—(Reuters)—Canadian Army public relations said yesterday the army was planning to lend The Netherlands government 1,200 officers and men to train a Dutch force which will take over Netherlands possession in the Far East. The scheme is under consideration by the Canadian and Netherlands [illegible]

Aneta, the Netherlands news agency, said the plan for Canadian assistance in training the Netherlands force called for 300 Canadian officers and 900 non-commissioned officers to be assigned to the task along with much Canadian military equipment. As a result, Aneta said, the [illegible] relations between the two countries are expected to become much closer.

"No details will be published before the plan is finally approved and simultaneous announcements [illegible] in Ottawa and The Hague", Aneta said.

War Production To Be Continued On Small Scale

OTTAWA, Sept. 1.—(CP)—Canada's war production will continue on a greatly reduced scale until the year end with emphasis on shipbuilding which will extend well into 1946, Reconstruction Minister Howe announced last night.

In a lengthy review of the present position of various phases of war industry, Mr. Howe said while there was some temporary unemployment [illegible] duction, there were "more than enough jobs to be filled."

GENERAL PICTURE

The general picture Mr. Howe presented showed that in shipbuilding a substantial number of ships on order for Britain are still to be completed.

Cutbacks in war production had proceeded since the collapse of Germany and as a result reconversion of plants and re-employment of workers [illegible] far exceeding the supply.

"The main labor difficulty we are experiencing is to switch workers from war to peacetime jobs, of which there are plenty," Mr. Howe said. "In some instances this switch-over is taking a little time, with the result that some workers are finding themselves temporarily unemployed . . . I am certain national selective service will be able to effect the change-over with a minimum of economic dislocation."

In a detailed break-down of future production schedules Mr. Howe's statement said of an original British Admiralty order for 71 transport ferries 15 had been delivered. The admiralty had indicated [illegible] ferries if they could be finished by the end of October. Orders for 45 ferries had been cancelled since V-J Day and 11 would be completed in Canadian yards. Two floating drydocks which had only reached the blueprint stage would be cancelled.

TO COMPLETE SHIPS

Other ships to be completed include [illegible] ers, six maintenance ships, two amenity ships, two accommodation ships, 15 coasters and 61 tugs.

In the main contracts for United States account had been cancelled including the Curtiss dive bomber order held by Canadian Car and Foundry Co. at Fort William, Ont., where there were 185 planes undelivered. That company also had a number of sub-contracts cancelled.

Production of sub-components for B-29 bombers at Boeing Aircraft [illegible] duced.

TO HALT PRODUCTION

[illegible] cles to meet United Kingdom requirements would stop in the near future. Curtailments in gun production dated back to V-E Day with the result that output had declined considerably by the time fighting stopped in the Pacific. Some of the contracts were being filled by Dominion Bridge Co., Vancouver.

Manufacture of Bantam Bofors platforms at Dominion Bridge, Vancouver, was cancelled.

piece. It should be something more [illegible] photographs. It should be more than a super tombstone.

It should, like the men whose sacrifice it commemorates, contribute to the betterment of the welfare of the community in which it is situated and be a continuing inspiration towards better citizenship. It should be something the entire community can use as well as admire. It should be a symbol of service as well as a symbol of sacrifice.

[illegible] I have spoken about this and with whom I have discussed the question are almost unanimously agreed that it should take the form of some kind of a public building which the entire community can use. Some have suggested libraries, some have suggested gymnasiums, some have suggested parks. Some, thinking more deeply, have suggested that it should be a community centre combining all the above suggestions, something which might start with a [illegible]

LIVING MEMORIALS

No community in Alberta [illegible] adequately served with gymnasiums, and only in the larger cities do we find anything approaching satisfactory libraries. Here, then, is [illegible] tribute to the communities, which will contribute as usefully as the men whose memory it [illegible]

These could become the cultural as well as the social centre for the community. A gymnasium would encourage and permit the children of today to grow into healthy, fit Canadians who will be able to contribute to the future of this country. A library would not only help citizens to use their leisure profitably, but could also be the means of educating our people [illegible] with the [illegible] peace would impress upon the minds of all, the true meaning of citizenship.

Let it be remembered that the men who died in the war did not give up their lives in the hope that [illegible] the future of this country would be better than its past. They sacrificed [illegible] of us who returned and those who lived would continue to [illegible] injustice and inequality until [illegible] have been banished from the [illegible] that their children might [illegible] more equal and better opportunities [illegible] orial that will help them to re[illegible] the hopes they fought for [illegible] death.

PRITCHARD—In loving memory of Lieut. Earle James Pritchard, killed in action in Italy, Sept. 2nd, 1944.

He will not grow old, as we who are left grow old,
Age shall not weary him, nor the years condemn,
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We remember him.

—Dearly loved and sadly missed by Mom, and Dad Cubitt, Joy and Guy.

PRITCHARD—In loving memory of our son and brother Lieut. Earle James Pritchard, killed at the Gothic Line in Italy, Sept. 2nd, 1944.

[illegible]
A shadow o'er our lives has cast,
Our loved ones gone forever".

—Ever remembered by Mother and Dad, his three brothers and one sister.

PRITCHARD

[illegible] Pritchard, killed in action in Italy, Sept. 2nd, 1944.

"I know not where my dear one lies,
Out there beneath Italian skies
[illegible]
I wish he slept where sunbeams fall,
[illegible]
With strange stars blazing overhead
[illegible]
He's in my heart and everywhere".

Canuck Claims He Tried Break Up Free Corps

By DOUGLAS AMARON

FARNBOROUGH, Hampshire, England, Sept. 1—(CP)—Details of the life and experiences of Pte. Bernard Martin of Riverside, Ont., as a prisoner-of-war and of his membership in the British Free Corps, a German-controlled anti-Russian organization, were admitted into evidence yesterday at Martin's trial before a Canadian general court martial.

The 26-year-old private in the Essex Scottish Regiment [illegible]

Details of Martin's activities were contained in a statement attributed to the accused and signed by him [illegible] of argument over an objection by defence counsel Lt.-Col. F. E. D. Wallace of Brantford, Ont., to the admissibility of the statement, the court disallowed the objection and prosecution counsel began reading the 101 paragraph document [illegible]

Col. Watt read 82 paragraphs before the court rose until Monday. He said he hoped to complete the case for the prosecution apart from cross-examination, some time Monday.

To Protect World
Offers 4-Point Plan For New Atomic Energy

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

LONDON, Sept. 1—(CP)—A four-point plan for solving the [illegible] problem" of protecting the world against misuse of the new atomic energy has been advanced by H. [illegible] adviser to the A[illegible] commissioner in London:

1. Transfer to the security council of the United Nations organization of all authority over [illegible]

2. [illegible] "perhaps acting through some trustee power such as the United States"—of control over all laboratories, factories and [illegible]

3. Provision of scientific and technical staffs to carry out these [illegible] and inspection services to ensure against infringement of the regulations;

Hours of Work Are Reduced by USAAF

Military and civilian personnel of [illegible] will go on a reduced work week effective Sept. 1, according to Maj. Harry Largent, executive for division [illegible]

[illegible]

For civilian clerical personnel it will mean a return to the normal peacetime 40 hour week. All other civilian employees will revert to a 44 hour week with Saturday afternoons off.

[illegible] all cases civilian personnel working more than the regular eight hour work day will receive overtime.

The work-week and schedules of fire-fighters will remain the same. The civilian pay authorization was effective Aug. 26.

154,000 Workers Still Required Says Mitchell

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Approximately 1,200,000 workers have been placed in jobs by the National Employment Service in the past three months and there still is a shortage of 154,000 workers, Labor Minister Mitchell said yesterday.

BACK TO SCHOOL TIME

THE STORE FOR YOUNG CANADA

EATON'S

Time to go back to school, all you students! For books, equipment, clothes and accessories, EATON'S is your best bet for value, assortments and all-round satisfaction. The whole store has been making elaborate preparations to do a better job this season than ever before. Our wise, young-minded buyers have been on the hop for weeks now, filling Young Canada departments with attractive wearables for all the school set from the youngest, awe-filled beginner to the top o' the world High goer. When you're in the store look for the big, red, shiny apple, the EATON back-to-school symbol, wherever school needs are sold. Keep a sharp eye on EATON'S advertisements from now on to keep in step with what's new and smart in the boys' and girls' departments this fall. We are also prepared to fix up your room or study with fine furniture, drapes, bedspreads, lamps and all the trimmin's. For style, quality and prices to please both of you and mom, EATON'S comes through at the head of the class every time. Mother's budget to us is just as important as Young Canada's taste . . . that's just one reason why we're so popular with the whole family.

On the Beam with Young Canada

STRICTLY ROGER-O!

That's Navy slang for pretty much of alright and that's the term we boys apply to EATON'S clothes for men-about-town like us (pardon me for saying so). Honestly though, it's darned important for us to look nice, because girls nowadays are really hard to impress . . . I mean you gotta look rugged and he-mannish before they'll give you a tumble But it's not too hard when we have EATON'S to fall back on, with their tweedy sports jackets - ties to Knock your eye out - flashy socks and nice heavy brogues that make a guy look sorta "Van Johnsonish." Remember too, that I'm on an allowance like all the other fellas and we have to keep pretty close tabs on our money. That's why I buy my duds in EATON'S, because they carry what I want, ..it lasts and it doesn't break me to pay for it. What more can a guy ask?

SUPERMAN
by JERRY SIEGEL AND JOE SHUSTER
SUPERMAN HAS FINALLY MANAGED TO TAKE A PAYROLL FROM WASHINGTON TO A DIVISION IN THE PACIFIC WHICH HAS, THROUGH A SERIES OF MISADVENTURES, REMAINED UNPAID FOR SOME TIME. BUT NOW....
THE OUTFIT'S BEEN ORDERED TO BOARD TRANSPORTS WITHIN AN HOUR! I CAN'T POSSIBLY MAKE UP AND DISTRIBUTE THE PAYROLL IN THAT TIME!
MAYBE I CAN HELP, BOB! LET ME TAKE THAT PAY-LIST...
305
THAT LIST SHOWS THE BASE PAY LESS ALLOTMENTS, INSURANCE AND LAUNDRY DEDUCTIONS FOR TWELVE THOUSAND MEN! WHAT GOOD IS IT GOING TO DO FOR YOU TO READ IT ?!?
QUIET, PLEASE--I'M CONCENTRATING. IN FACT, I'M DEPENDING ON MY SUPER-INTELLECT TO MEMORIZE THE ENTIRE LIST!
-AND NOW I'VE DONE IT! ALL RIGHT, BOB – GET THE MONEY ONTO THE TABLE. SERGEANT STAND BY AND HAND ME THOSE EMPTY ENVELOPES.
SURE, IF YOU SAY SO, SUPERMAN!
Y-YESSIR...!
WORKING AT TORNADO SPEED, THE MAN OF TOMORROW MAKES UP THE DIVISION'S PAYROLL WITH UNERRING ACCURACY!
BUT THIS SHOULD BE TAKING HOURS!!
--AND IT HASN'T TAKEN HIM EVEN A MINUTE!!
PRIVATE TRIMBLE REPORTING FOR PAY AGAIN, SIR! AND, SIR—I JUST GOTTA BE PAID!
THIS TIME I'M GOING TO FOOL YOU, TRIMBLE! I'M GOING TO PAY YOU---YOU AND EVERY OTHER MAN IN THE OUTFIT!
GOSH! I GOT IT! LOOKIT THAT BEAUTIFUL DOUGH!
REAL MONEY! AIN'T IT GORGEOUS!?!
BUT NOW WE GOT IT---WHAT'RE WE GONNA DO WITH IT? THERE'S NOTHIN' HERE T'SPEND IT ON!
THAT'S RIGHT. AN' WE'RE LEAVIN' ON AN INVASION HOP IN A FEW MINUTES!
TRIMBLE, YOU SAID YOU HAD TO HAVE YOUR PAY---AND NOW YOU'VE GOT IT. WHAT DO YOU FIGURE ON DOING WITH IT?
BUY A NICE BIG WAR BOND FOR MY KID, SIR! HER BIRTHDAY'S COMIN' UP IN A COUPLE OF WEEKS!
WAR BONDS! NOW, THERE'S A RIGHT SMART IDEA!
AMAZING! EVERY NICKEL OF THE PAYROLL'S COMING RIGHT BACK!
IT'S ALL RIGHT SO LONG AS I DON'T GET SUPER-WRITER'S-CRAMP FROM FILLING OUT ALL THESE WAR BOND APPLICATIONS!
AND SOON AFTER-
SO LONG, SUPERMAN-- AND THANKS! THIS IS PROBABLY THE FIRST TIME A WHOLE PAYROLL MADE A ROUND TRIP!
TELL YOUR BOYS THE PAYROLL WILL BE BACK AGAIN IN [illegible] WITH INTEREST!

GET THE STEPLADDER FROM THE GARAGE AND I'LL BE OUT IN A MINUTE WITH SOME BOLTS AND A WRENCH!
OKAY!
YOUR SON TALKED ME INTO BUYING HIM A ROPE SWING FOR THE BACK YARD -- I'M GOING TO PUT IT UP BETWEEN THOSE TWO BIG TREES!
OH, THAT'S FINE -- HE'LL HAVE A LOT OF FUN WITH IT!
YOU BETTER GET THAT OTHER LADDER TOO! YOU'LL HAVE TO HOLD ONE END OF THIS 4×4 WHILE I BOLT THE OTHER END!
AS SOON AS I GET THIS THING BOLTED, WE'LL ALSO USE SOME OF THAT HEAVY WIRE THAT'S IN THE GARAGE!
OKAY I'LL GET IT!
BY GEORGE, THAT WAS A TOUGH JOB -- BUT THERE IT IS!
BOY! IT'S SWELL!
WELL, THE SWING IS UP! WE'VE GOT IT HANGING FROM A 4×4!
MAYBE NOW WILLIS WILL STAY IN HIS OWN YARD OCCASIONALLY AND AWAY FROM THAT GANG HE HANGS AROUND WITH ALL THE TIME -- ARE YOU SURE THE SWING IS SAFE?
IT OUGHT TO BE! I NOT ONLY USED LONG BOLTS, BUT A LOT OF STRONG WIRE.
WELL -- JUST THE THOUGHT OF THAT 4×4 CRASHING DOWN ON WILLIS'S HEAD --
FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE! RATHER THAN HAVE YOU WORRIED ALL THE TIME -- AND NOW YOU'VE GOT ME WONDERING -- I'LL GO OUT AND TEST IT MYSELF! COME ON!
I'M NEXT!
YOU KNOW ME, WILLIS!
NEVER MIND TESTING IT! IT CERTAINLY LOOKS SAFE!
AND IT LOOKS LIKE WE NOT ONLY KEEP WILLIS IN HIS OWN YARD -- BUT WE GET THE GANG TOO!

A MOUSE CART

THE Teenie Weenies had been using a sled to haul the various things which they had to move. That was all very well when the snow covered the ground, for it would slide over the slippery snow easily, but it was hard work to pull it over the bare ground and the Old Soldier with a wooden leg decided the Teenie Weenies needed a cart.

"If we could find a thread spool," the Old Soldier said, "we could saw off a couple of wheels in no time."

For many weeks the little folks hunted for a spool. They watched the dump heap where the big people threw their rubbish, but they never found a single spool. Every Teenie Weenie spent his or her time hunting for a spool; that is, every one but the Teenie Weenie Indian. That little chap thought a cart was a very unnecessary thing.

"Why want cart when you can carry load on your back?" he asked.

"Some things are too heavy to carry on your back," replied the General.

"Humph!" grunted the Indian. "When load too big to carry on back then you have more than you need."

The Indian was the only Teenie Weenie who was not looking for a spool and it was that very little chap who found one. He was running his line of caterpillar traps one morning when he found a big spool lying beneath some bushes. He reported his discovery to the General, who sent several of the little men to get it. They rolled the spool up to the Teenie Weenie workshop, where the little men began work on the cart. The Old Soldier measured and marked the places where the wheels were to be cut from the spool, and Gogo and the Turk cut them off with a Teenie Weenie crosscut saw.

The Old Soldier made an axle out of a short piece of pencil, then he built a body for the cart out of some Teenie Weenie boards which had been cut from a berry basket. Next, he contrived a way to fix either shafts or a tongue to the cart. When the load was light enough for one mouse to pull the cart the Teenie Weenies would use the shafts and save the corn it would cost to pay an extra mouse. But when the cart was full they would use the tongue and hire a team of mice.

"The Indian gets the first ride," said the Dunce as he gave the cart a coat of paint. "He found the spool for the wheels and that entitles him to the first ride."

"Humph!" grunted the Indian. "Me walk. Walkin' better for Indian than ridin'. Ridin' in mouse cart better for Dunce. He take first ride. Indian walk."
